       Cell – 703-855-2574

E-Mail: gritchie@gmu.edu

Prerequisite:
Admission to the Literacy specialization or permission of the literacy program coordinator

Course Description:
This course provides a research-based foundation in literacy development for younger learners. Study includes investigation of

- cognitive, socio-cultural, linguistic, developmental and motivational influences on literacy and language development; and
- instructional strategies that facilitate learning for this age range.

Comprehension development, fluency development, phonemic awareness, word recognition, vocabulary development, writing, spelling, family literacy, emergent literacy, oral communications, and the needs of diverse learners are included.

Course Outcomes:

1.1 Students will demonstrate knowledge of psychological, sociological, linguistic, and anthropological foundations of reading and writing processes and instruction.
1.2 Students will summarize and synthesize in writing their knowledge of reading research and histories of reading.
1.3 Students will explain (orally and in writing) their knowledge of language development and reading acquisition and the variations related to culture and linguistic diversity, including:
a. Reading development (e.g., strategies for comprehension, fluency, word recognition, phonemic awareness, and vocabulary/concept development).
b. Writing development (e.g., spelling, writing for a variety of audiences, and writing for personal expression).
c. Oral communication development (e.g., speaking, listening, and creative expression).
d. The language and literacy development of all learners (e.g., children who are learning English as a second language, children who find literacy learning difficult, and children with diverse special needs).

1.4 Students will model reading and writing enthusiastically as valued life-long activities.
1.5 Students will continue to pursue the development of professional knowledge and dispositions.
1.6 Students will demonstrate knowledge of the major components of reading (phonemic awareness, word identification and phonics, vocabulary and background knowledge, fluency, comprehension strategies, and motivation) and how they are integrated in fluent reading.

Readings:

Required Texts:

Additional assigned readings from both class handouts and the reading packet, available through electronic reserve.

Optional Texts:

Electronic Requirements:

Students must have access to email and the internet, either at home, work or GMU campus. GMU provides students with free email accounts, which must be accessed for information sent from the university or the Graduate School of Education. Go to Http://mason.gmu.edu/ for information on accessing email.

After introductory training (during class meeting 5), students will also be expected to access Blackboard prior to every class session to download agendas and other pertinent course documents. Blackboard can be accessed by going to http://blackboard.gmu.edu.

The Graduate School of Education (GSE) expects that all students abide by the following:
Students are expected to exhibit professional behavior and dispositions. See gse.gmu.edu for a listing of these dispositions.

Honor Code

As stated on the GMU web site: “Please familiarize yourself with the Honor System and Code, as stated in the George Mason University Undergraduate Catalog. When you are given an assignment as an individual, the work must be your own. Some of your work may be collaborative; source material for group projects and work of individual group members must be carefully documented for individual contributions.” Students must follow the guidelines of the University Honor Code. See http://www.gmu.edu/catalog/apolicies/#TOC_H12 for the full honor code.

Students must agree to abide by the university policy for Responsible Use of Computing.
See http://mail.gmu.edu and click on Responsible Use of Computing at the bottom of the screen.

Students With Special Needs

Students who require any special accommodations or those with disabilities that may affect their ability to participate fully in the course are encouraged to work with the instructor to ensure their successful participation. Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the GMU Disability Resource Center (DRC) and inform the instructor, in writing, at the beginning of the semester. See www.gmu.edu/student/drc or call 703-993-2474 to access the DRC.

Relationship of Course to Program Goals and Professional Organization:

This course addresses new and required state and national competencies for K-12 Reading Specialists. This course also provides an advanced, research-based study of literacy professional development for teachers seeking a Virginia Reading Specialist License.

Nature of Course Delivery

The class will be structured around discussion and small group activities; it is critical for you to keep up with the readings and to participate in class. Instructor and student generated questions related to course readings and assignments/projects will often be the focus of group discussions. Be prepared to discuss the content of the text and its relation to your teaching experiences, course assignments, and projects and to ask questions for clarification, exploration, or to promote discussion. The instructor will use a lecture methodology periodically for brief periods of time. Students will also be engaged in activities designed to encourage application of materials from the readings and discussions to the role of a reading specialist in Virginia. An electronic discussion that students participate in outside of class is an additional course delivery mechanism.

General Requirements

1. Class attendance is both important and required. If, due to an emergency, you will not be in class, you must contact the instructor via phone or email. Students with more than two absences may drop a letter grade or lose course credit.
2. It is expected that assignments will be turned in on time (the beginning of the class in which they are due). However, it is recognized that students occasionally have serious problems that prevent work completion. If such a dilemma arises, please speak to the instructor in a timely fashion.
3. The completion of all readings assigned for the course is assumed. Because the class will be structured around discussion and small group activities, it is critical for you to keep up with the readings and to participate in class.
4. All GMU literacy cohorts are required to attend at least one literacy-related professional conference during the school year.
5. According to university policy, all beepers and cell phones should be turned off before class begins.

Specific Course Requirements:

1. The completion of all readings assigned for the course is assumed. In addition, reading in professional journals is required for the research report. Because the class will be structured around discussion and small group activities pertaining to literacy from birth to adolescence, it is imperative that you keep up with the readings and participate in class.

2. Each student needs to write a one-two page summary/reflection on 3 articles/assigned readings. The summary should include the following parts: Purpose, Summary, --(if you summarize a research article you should include the methods and results), and Critical Comment/Reflection (strengths, weaknesses, and your own reflection on the article). Your article summary needs to include the article reference in APA style. Each student will need to discuss the summaries during the regular class discussion of that article. Each student will choose the 3 articles to be summarized: one article from the language and emergent literacy group of readings; one article from the phonics and whole language group; and one article from the families, diversity, spelling, assessment, and intervention group. The summaries will be due on the day the article is discussed in class. [The first article summary can be resubmitted for evaluation after the student has received instructor feedback]. The summaries are worth 20% of the final grade. See pp. 11-12 of the syllabus for article titles. An example will be provided.

3. Students will participate in electronic discussions related to class topics through the use of GSE’s conferencing system, Blackboard. Participation in the Blackboard electronic discussions is worth 10% of the final grade.

4. Participation in class discussions and activities. Class attendance and participation is worth 10% of the final grade.

5. There will be a mid-term essay examination covering the assigned readings and material discussed in class. The mid-term examination is worth 20% of the final grade. Date: July 16th.

6. Each student will write an eight to ten page paper related to a literacy topic from class discussions (topics stated on the class schedule). Since this class focuses on literacy from birth to adolescence the topic for the paper must address typical literacy learners in this age range. The paper needs to draw from multiple sources (including library resources and assigned, in-class readings) and address the diverse families and children that are present in Northern Virginia. Details about the paper will be provided and discussed in class. Participation in writing feedback groups for in-class feedback and work on your final paper is also part of this assignment. You will meet with classmates periodically to talk about your own research and provide feedback to others on their research process. We will discuss in class when you will be responsible for having drafts of your writing to share with copies for each of your group members. Each student will also make a 10 minute class presentation on her or his topic to the class. The paper is due on August 2nd, and is worth 40% of the final grade.

Evaluation:

Article Summaries  20%
Criteria for evaluation of each summary include purpose statement, summary, strengths and weaknesses of the article, and reflection based on previous knowledge. The summaries must demonstrate graduate level writing (at a minimum it means that words are properly spelled; punctuation is appropriate; sentences are complete; verb/subject, pronoun/antecedent agree; and writing is appropriately concise and clear).

Mid-Term Essay Examination  20%
The mid-term examination will be evaluated using the following criteria: accuracy in explaining literacy theories, appropriate citation of research, ability to apply knowledge gained in class and in reading to the essay and coherence of writing that demonstrates graduate level writing.

Literacy Topic Paper  40%
Criteria for evaluation will include ability to analyze and synthesize reference materials and other sources as well as writing clarity and coherence (writing that demonstrates graduate level writing). Specific criteria for different parts of the paper will be discussed in class.

Blackboard Discussion 10%

Criteria for the Blackboard electronic discussion will include: 1) whether or not students post their message in a timely manner (before the next class meeting); and 2) the connection of the posted messages to class discussions, personal experiences and assigned readings. It is expected that students will post at least one response for each Blackboard discussion strand.

Class Participation Assessment 10%

Class participation will be evaluated using the following rating scale:

A (9-10) Excellent – Regularly asks questions or makes observations that indicate reflection and analysis appropriate to the topic. Participates actively in small group activities. Submits all in-class reflections on readings and class discussions and research paper drafts.

B (7-8) Competent—Occasionally asks questions or makes observations that indicate reflection and analysis appropriate to the topic. Participates in small group activities. Submits some in-class reflections on readings and class discussions and research paper drafts.

C (5-6) Minimal – Rarely asks questions or makes comments that indicate familiarity with the topic. Does not participate in small groups. Does not submit in-class reflections on readings and class discussions and research paper drafts.

Grading Scale:

A+ = 98-100; A = 94-97; A- = 90-93; B+ = 85-89; B = 80-84; C = 70-79

F = Did not meet course requirements

Tentative Class Schedule

This schedule may be changed at the discretion of the professor or as needs of the students or the ASTL Literacy Emphasis Program dictate.

Class 1) June 28

Introduction & Course Overview Balanced Instruction
Readings:

(These will be distributed in class)
