PhD in Education

Graduate students are eligible for tuition discounts!

Students who enroll in graduate courses offered by the College of Education and Human Development (CEHD) at George Mason University can take advantage of two tuition discounts. This is great news if you're interested in earning a master's degree, PhD, or graduate certificate, or just want to try out a few graduate courses.

DISCOUNT FOR VIRGINIA EDUCATORS

- Available to Virginia residents who work in P-12 Virginia schools as a teacher, counselor, administrator, librarian, coach, or staff member. (See website for details).
- This discount is 15% off the university's approved rate for in-state graduate students. (Go to <http://studentaccounts.gmu.edu/tuition-fees> for current rate information).
- You'll need to submit a short online application each semester. (Note: If you are taking courses as part of a cohort, tuition discount information will be provided by your cohort coordinator).
- To apply, see the requirements and deadlines at <http://cehd.gmu.edu/teachva>.

DISCOUNT FOR OUT-OF-STATE STUDENTS

- This discount is approximately 45% off the university's approved rate for out-of-state graduate students. (Go to <http://studentaccounts.gmu.edu/tuition-fees> for current rate information).
- No application is needed — this discount is automatically applied.
- For more information, go to <http://cehd.gmu.edu/tuitiondiscounts>.

George Mason University's College of Education and Human Development (CEHD) includes two schools: the Graduate School of Education and the School of Recreation, Health, and Tourism. CEHD offers a full range of courses, certificates, and degree programs on campus, online, and on site to more than 4,000 students each year. CEHD is fully accredited by NCATE, and all licensure programs are approved by the Virginia Department of Education.

George Mason University, located just outside of Washington, D.C., is Virginia's largest public research university.
