INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Internship!

Integral to the Education Leadership Program, the internship provides an opportunity for you to synthesize and apply the knowledge and practice the skills identified in the Educational Leadership Constituency Consortium (ELCC) standards, through substantial, sustained work in educational settings. The internship activities you experience are planned cooperatively with your Mason university supervisor, who guides you through the internship in collaboration with a site supervisor in your work setting. The internship is one of the most important learning experiences you will have on your journey to becoming proficient as an education leader.

As you begin this exciting personal leadership development activity, wave off the false assumptions such as, “All I have to do is get my principal to sign off on my being in charge of the afterschool program and I will get my hours,” or “I’ll hang around the athletic director, coach a little, run a tournament and I’ll get my internship finished.” We have moved past one-dimensional internships with no accountability, little supervision, and frankly, little professional growth.

Approach this internship as an eye opening, mind stretching, and critical opportunity to learn as much as you can about being a good leader and to practice the skills necessary to expand your leadership right now. Your beliefs about what is good teaching will be challenged, your personal skills will be put to the task and your ability to think about the “big picture” will be tested.

This internship will be a challenging, tiring, thankless chore at times. At the same time, it will be rewarding, mentally stimulating, and a professional high from which you can reflect on your performance and say, “I did that well.”

Your instructors and university supervisor are committed to your success. Likewise, the spirit of teamwork that abounds in cohorts and campus internship classes will serve as an excellent support during the internship. Encourage and trust your intern colleagues, ask for help, offer a hand, and nurture your newfound skills as an Education Leader.

PLEASE NOTE: The requirements of the internship are subject to change. Check the date listed on the cover page of this manual, and periodically check program resource materials available on Blackboard to ensure that you have the most up-to-date description of internship requirements. If you discover differences between the manual and the directions your professor has provided on Blackboard, the directions on Blackboard should take precedence. Your professor may have adjusted to differences between the courses or sequence of courses, or the student composition of your internship group.

I. Values & Mission Statement

The College of Education & Human Development at George Mason University is committed to promoting rigorous performance standards and professional dispositions. Dispositions are values, commitments, and professional ethics that influence behaviors toward students, families, colleagues, and all members of the learning community. The Graduate School of Education expects students, faculty, and staff to exhibit professional dispositions through:

- Commitment to the profession
- Commitment to honoring professional ethical standards
- Commitment to key elements of professional practice
- Commitment to being a member of a learning community
- Commitment to democratic values and social justice

The core values endorsed by the faculty of the College that serve as a framework for our practice include collaboration; ethical leadership; innovation; research-based practice; and social justice. The mission statement of the Education Leadership Program is:

To develop individuals with strong, effective, and comprehensive leadership and managerial knowledge and skills applicable to a wide variety of education settings.

Candidates in the program will gain an understanding of organizational theories, effective practice, experiential learning, and cultural diversity, and will be able to make application to authentic situations.

II. Role of the Internship in the EDLE Program

The program of study in EDLE provides two distinct sets of experiences:

1. A set of required performance-based activities within required classes.
Each class within the EDLE program has one or more required performance-based activities. Each activity is designed to allow students to put into practice a number of leadership proficiencies that students are learning about in class, and to receive feedback on their performance. Thus, taken as a whole, course-based performances allow students to demonstrate what they know and are able to do relating to all of the ELCC standards for school leaders (see Appendix A).
2. The internship.

All candidates seeking state licensure in Administration and Supervision PreK-12 are required by the state and other accrediting agencies to complete an internship. The state provides no precise program design for the internship. The state does, however, identify specific components that must be included in the Education Leadership Program, including the internship. To meet the mandate for an internship experience, the Education Leadership Program faculty designed and implemented an internship experience (documented by a Collective Record) that meets the needs of:

- candidates preparing for state licensure

- school districts seeking to identify and nurture administrative leaders for the future
- faculty committed to providing candidates with experiences of practice under the guidance of professionals from both school districts and the university.

It also provides a means for candidates to connect theoretical and practical knowledge and develop leadership and management skills in authentic education environments.

The internship provides opportunities to apply theory to practice within a broad range of leadership and administrative tasks. The central focus of the internship is on planning, experiencing, and reflecting on major responsibilities in school administration and supervision. The internship focuses on the development of skills in the six areas defined within the ELCC standards for building leaders (see Appendix A).

Generally, performance-based activities experienced in classes provide candidates with an opportunity to gain initial knowledge, skills and experiences related to important leadership and administrative activities. In contrast, internship experiences provide candidates an opportunity to replicate and extend this learning. Together, the two sets of experiences provide performance data to assess students' progress throughout the program in terms of attaining the knowledge, performance, skills, and dispositions of candidates for leadership and management positions in educational settings.

III. Purpose of the EDLE Internship

The EDLE 791 internship supports the Education Leadership Program's overall mission. The internship:

1. Provides EDLE candidates seeking state licensure with an approved comprehensive internship experience designed to serve as the link among the candidates' university coursework, continuing on-the-job professional experiences, and anticipated future administrative and supervisory responsibilities.
2. Provides EDLE candidates with authentic leadership experiences aligned with the ELCC standards (see Appendix A), which in turn are closely aligned to the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISSLC) and Virginia standards. These standards define what successful candidates are expected to know and be able to do as education leaders.
3. Provides EDLE candidates with an opportunity to demonstrate leadership for school improvement by analyzing school performance; identifying one or more achievement gaps that require attention; and leading a school-based team in planning, enacting, and evaluating a school improvement project that promotes tangible improvement in teaching and learning in an authentic school setting.
4. Expands the experiences and perspectives of school-based personnel beyond the individual school into a more comprehensive set of K-12 and district-level experiences to help candidates prepare for school-based leadership positions and to function successfully in the broader context of the district.
5. Gives candidates directed practice in building networks and establishing cooperative relationships within the school site with various departments and offices at the district level; with various constituencies in the larger school community; and with parents, staff, and faculty within their individual schools.

6. Culminates in a Collective Record (portfolio) of experiences that is assessed to determine the degree to which candidates meet required standards and competencies. The Collective Record is presented within an online assessment system with facilities for document creation and storage and extensive portfolio development tools. Your internship Collective Record is integrated with data on a number of performance-based activities you complete within EDLE classes to provide a comprehensive picture of the knowledge, skills and dispositions you demonstrated throughout your program of study.

IV. Internship Policy and Procedures

1. Candidates who have been admitted into the Education Leadership program are required to register for the 3-hours of EDLE 791 – Internship in Education Leadership no later than the second semester of their program of study. This class should be taken either concurrently with or just following EDLE 690 – Using Research to Lead School Improvement. As a culminating activity in the EDLE 690 class, students will develop a plan for implementing a school improvement project that becomes the capstone field experience within their internship. EDLE 791 appears on a candidate’s transcript with an “in progress” (IP) grade until the internship is completed successfully, at which time the grade changes to “satisfactory” (S).
2. Candidates receive information about the internship experience and develop the internship plan during the first semester of the EDLE 791 – Internship in Education Leadership class. The instructor of the internship course is also the candidate’s university supervisor. (Please note that a candidate’s university supervisor may or may not be the same as the candidate’s university academic advisor.)
3. Candidates receive information about the College’s electronic assessment and portfolio system when they begin their program of study in Education Leadership (currently TK-20), and are provided access to My Mason’s Blackboard portal. A Blackboard course template is used for submission of all materials you share with your university supervisor to document your internship experience.
4. Candidates must complete the internship experience to receive a Master’s Degree or Certificate in Education Leadership and/or to be eligible to be licensed in Administration and Supervision PreK-12.
5. As a requirement of the internship, students must take and pass the licensure assessment required by the State of Virginia for the endorsement authorizing them to serve as principals or assistant principals (currently the School Leadership Licensure Assessment, or SLLA). Note: The licensure assessment is a requirement for all candidates whether or not individuals intend to work as school administrators. Official scores must be reported in the Collective Record and submitted to the College of Education & Human Development.
6. Candidates not currently working in a school must meet the internship requirements described here. However, such candidates will receive individualized assistance as needed from their university supervisor in planning internship experiences.
7. Only the university supervisor can approve the completion of the internship Collective

Record for licensure purposes.

V. Requirements for Internship

Enrollment in the internship must total no fewer than three credit hours, representing a minimum of 320 clock-hours of field-based internship experiences documented in the Internship Log (see Appendix I). The completion of the internship takes place over a period of not fewer than 12 months.

1. Internship Plan

- a. Students complete a set of required activities that scaffold to each of the ELCC standards, representing approximately half of the internship activity hours (see Appendix B). One of the distinctive features of the internship within the EDLE program is that the remaining portion of the internship is designed based on a self-assessment of leadership competencies and career objectives. Although students' experiences in the internship may be similar, no two internships need be identical. Instead, your internship plan is based on required activities and activities determined as a result of a dialogue with your university supervisor and site supervisor about the experiences that will best develop and demonstrate your knowledge and ability to perform the leadership proficiencies embodied in the ELCC standards.
- b. The internship plan must be completed during the initial semester of enrollment in EDLE 791 – Internship in Education Leadership. Plans are based on ELCC standards (see Appendix A). Candidates receive detailed information on the development of the internship plan during this class.
- c. Approval of the internship plan marks the candidate's admission to clinical practice in the EDLE program. Candidates must receive approval of their internship plan from their internship advisor and site supervisor before they may begin to enact their internship plan (see Internship Plan Approval Form, Appendix F). Candidates may not take additional EDLE courses unless and until the internship plan has been approved by the university supervisor.

2. Internship Collective Record

- a. The Collective Record is a set of reports or descriptions, artifacts and reflections that provides a record of the intern's administrative/supervisory experiences and growth. The Collective Record synthesizes learning from the intern's school-based and district-level experiences. Its purpose is to encourage the intern to become actively involved in monitoring and reflecting on his/her development as a potential administrator or supervisor.
- b. The Collective Record represents the student's evidence of successful completion of field-based internship activities. The Collective Record is presented electronically as a series of document submissions in Blackboard. Specifically, the Blackboard template contains three units: 1) an introductory unit that culminates in approval of the internship plan; 2) a unit that provides candidates an opportunity to document their implementation of internship activities by posting reflections and artifacts that serve as evidence of the intern's completion of required and additional activities; and 3) a concluding unit that asks candidates to provide culminating evidence related to the internship experience. The internship Collective Record process is reviewed and clarified during the candidate's EDLE 791 – Internship in Education Leadership class.

- c. The Collective Record is required for the successful completion of the internship. Evaluation of the Collective Record constitutes evaluation of the candidate's successful completion of the internship. As an extensive document, the Collective Record requires substantial time for the university supervisor to assess. Candidates should plan for a 4 - week period between submission of the final Collective Record and receipt of university supervisor assessment and scheduling of a final conference to discuss the assessment. The university then requires an additional two weeks to process paperwork that results in the issuance of the College Verification Form, certifying the candidate's completion of a state-approved education leadership program. This six-week lead time is significant for candidates eager to apply for jobs while completing coursework in the EDLE Program.
- d. Candidates must complete and submit their Collective Record within 18 months of the date their Internship Plan is approved by their University Supervisor. The University Supervisor may require revision and resubmission of the Collective Record, and/or completion of additional internship activities in order to successfully complete the internship. Candidates must complete the internship and receive a satisfactory grade within 24 months of the date their Internship Plan is approved by their University Supervisor. Failure to satisfactorily complete the Collective Record and be graded in EDLE 791 will result in being assigned a NC (no credit) grade. Candidates who exceed the 24-month time limit must re-enroll in EDLE 791 to complete their internships.
- e. Implementing the Collective Record activities is the candidate's responsibility. However, the candidate's university supervisor is responsible for advising and guiding the candidate's progress in the Collective Record development process and for assessing the completed Collective Record.

2. Site-Based Internship Logistics

- a. Candidates are responsible for arranging their own on-site experiences, as specified in their internship plans. Candidates work with their principals, school district administrators, and/or other designated supervisors to ensure that these activities consist of a variety of administrative experiences, including those activities that are required.
- b. With prior approval of the university supervisor, candidates may include within the internship administrative responsibilities that are already assigned as part of their current professional positions if the experiences contribute to the intern's extended growth.
- c. Activities conducted as an assignment or assessment in an EDLE class may, with one exception (i.e., community focus group assignment in EDLE 610), not be used to satisfy the requirements of the internship. However, candidates are encouraged to replicate activities experienced in EDLE classes, particularly if these are conducted at another school site or level to enrich the candidate's learning.
- d. The University is not responsible for on-site internship assignments. Individual school districts may have distinct procedures that interns must follow in arranging their internships. The site supervisor must approve all activities for fulfillment of internship requirements.

- e. Examples of appropriate experiences in a school that may be used to augment the required activities are presented in Appendix D of this document. These may include such things as serving as the principal's designee when he/she is away from the building; rewriting school policies at the principal's direction; and attending various school and district-level administrative meetings with, or on behalf of, the principal. In general, internship activities should be active rather than passive and should involve leadership to the greatest extent possible.
- f. Internship experiences shall involve multiple sites with diverse student populations (elementary, middle, high, central office, agency) outside of the intern's primary assignment area. Experiences for all interns shall include a minimum of 40 hours of activities in each of (at least) two areas outside their primary areas of assignment. For example, interns who are elementary teachers will need to participate in activities in at least two of the following areas: pre-k, middle school, high school, district office, or community organization.
- g. Candidates are responsible for making arrangements for their own required experiences at each level, and are encouraged to consult their principals regarding the appropriate personnel or offices to contact in order to fulfill specific internship requirements.
- h. In addition to the above-mentioned school-based internship experiences, candidates may include other types of leadership placements to fulfill a portion of their internship activity. These may include, for instance, working in collaboration with national and state professional associations and community agencies in school related activities. Community agencies include, but are not limited to, the local Police Department, Parks and Recreation, Social Services Agency, and local government.
- i. Internship activities often extend into and through a summer session. However, the internship must span at least a twelve-month period, hence involvement in summer school placement activity alone cannot suffice for the internship.
- j. A required site-based performance within the internship is the enactment and evaluation of the school improvement project (SIP), planned in EDLE 690 – Using Research to Lead School Improvement. The candidate is responsible for leading all facets of this project, including assessing the efficacy of the project in meeting espoused goals relating to improving student performance and achievement and advising site-based administrators concerning the evolution of the project. The school improvement project is reported as an activity in the Collective Record (see reporting requirements below), including a description of the enactment of the project and results from the evaluation conducted to ascertain the project's impact on outcomes related to student learning. In addition, the intern will write an analysis and reflection relating to the enactment of the school improvement project. This paper is included in the Collective Record as part of the evidence related to leadership of the SIP.

4. Participation in Required Meetings

- a. After admission to clinical practice, EDLE interns are required to participate in periodic meetings with their internship advisor. Such meetings may be face-to-face or conducted virtually using Blackboard Collaborate Ultra or another online facility such as blog chat. Typically, meetings are conducted by faculty with the purpose of providing:

- an opportunity to check candidate progress toward successful completion of the internship
- a forum for candidates to solve problems and share their internship experiences with peers and faculty
- a link that will reinforce internship experiences with current events and issues in education
- candidates with professional growth activities and skill development opportunities

5. Completion of the Internship Collective Record

- a. The site supervisor should be asked to complete the Evaluation of Intern form (see Appendix H) and review his/her evaluation with the candidate. The site supervisor and candidate should sign and date this form and submit a scan of the original to the appropriate submission site in Blackboard.
- b. A concluding interview with the university supervisor is held when the Collective Record assessment is complete. This required interview provides an opportunity for interns to reflect on the entire experience, for the faculty to provide summative feedback to the candidate, and for the university supervisor to check progress toward graduation. Other faculty and professionals may be included in the culminating experience. Such sessions also may be conducted as small group activities, with more than one intern scheduled simultaneously. Culminating meetings may be face-to-face or conducted virtually using Blackboard Collaborate Ultra or another online facility.
- c. The completed Collective Record must be submitted to the internship supervisor no less than four weeks prior to the concluding review, to ensure sufficient time for a thorough review of material.
- d. Grades will be designated as “IP” (in progress) each semester until the Collective Record and internship experiences have been successfully completed, at which time the university supervisor will assign a grade of “S” (satisfactory). Academic credit is not awarded for a grade of “NC” (no credit). Candidates who receive a “NC” grade must re-enroll in EDLE 791 in order to be permitted to continue to work on their internship, revise and resubmit the Collective Record, and be eligible to successfully complete the internship.
 - i. Candidates seeking licensure from the state should also be aware that once they successfully complete the requirements for the internship and their university supervisor submits their grade, it may take two weeks for the registrar’s office to update their transcript reflecting this grade change.
 - ii. The College Verification Form verifies your completion of a state-approved program and cannot be issued until the internship grade has been changed from IP to S. It is important, therefore, to plan carefully and initiate the review process in a timely fashion. It is the responsibility of the intern to allow enough time for grading, posting the grade, and the issuance of the College Verification Form in preparation for applying for administrative positions requiring licensure.

6. Collective Record Logistics

- a. The Collective Record is an evolving document that should be developed concurrently with the intern's experiences. The intern should document all internship activities in an internship log, and reflect on experiences by keeping an internship journal. The journal should cover all ELCC standards thoroughly. It is advisable to document experiences immediately after they occur, to ensure that no pertinent details are omitted.
- b. The Collective Record is built in Blackboard over the entire span of the internship. When candidates complete an activity in its entirety they can submit their reflection and artifact as evidence for the university supervisor's feedback. University supervisors may provide feedback in an ongoing fashion, as time permits, and may require the intern to revise and resubmit evidence as needed.
- c. Interns are expected to provide descriptions, artifacts, and written reflections on each of the required internship activities. These entries are submitted during the internship in Blackboard. Note that for each Blackboard submission, candidates may attach separate documents, including a reflection (in Word) and an artifact (e.g., a PowerPoint presentation, a Word document, a picture, form, or video, etc.).
- d. Interns are required to reflect on their experiences and, in writing, analyze the significance of the experiences for them as educational leaders. Written reflections should not merely describe the experiences, but should tell what the intern learned, how the intern might use this information in the future to improve his/her professional practice, and other insights and ideas that relate to leadership responsibilities. A format for reflections is provided in Blackboard by the university supervisor.
- e. Artifacts provide supporting evidence related to the intern's leadership learning. An artifact can be a file, scanned document, presentation, video, etc., that is submitted along with the reflection in Blackboard. To the greatest extent possible, artifacts should reflect work product that the intern had a significant role in creating (e.g., a presentation) rather than passive indicators (e.g., an agenda or announcement). When possible, the intern is advised to reference the artifact in the reflection to explain, briefly, what the artifact is and why the intern included it as evidence of his/her learning.
- f. Except as explicitly noted (e.g., the Professional Growth Plan), the Collective Record should contain only documentation of actual internship experiences.
- g. The Collective Record is a reflection of the intern's professionalism and insight into his/her personal knowledge, performance skills, and dispositions of leadership readiness. Consequently, the Collective Record should be well written and carefully edited.

7. Format for the Collective Record

The Collective Record is presented electronically in Blackboard. It is comprised of materials provided during the internship, and upon completion of the internship.

1. Unit 1 contains material associated with planning the internship. Your university supervisor may require submission of work products associated with preliminary planning activities and/or the sharing of ideas or group projects during this initial planning phase. The required documents in Unit 1 include:

- a. The Internship Application Form (see Appendix C)
 - b. The Internship Plan (see Appendices D, E, F)
2. Unit 2 contains separate sections in Blackboard for the intern to provide evidence of internship activities organized by ELCC standard. These may be posted at any time as internship activities are completed. For each standard, the intern presents entries for at least each of the required activities.

Each entry representing an activity must include a reflection written in the required format (describe, reflect, connect) along with at least one artifact that represents evidence of the candidate's leadership learning.

3. Unit 3 contains a template for completion of the Collective Record once reflections and artifacts related to activities are submitted. The template is organized as follows:
- a. Consolidated log of internship activities - Interns will maintain running records of internship activities and report these periodically to the university supervisor. For the Collective Record, the intern will consolidate these logs, by standard, for reporting. (See Appendix I for format.)
 - b. School Leaders Licensure Assessment (SLLA) score - Candidates must attach a scanned copy of their SLLA scores in order to demonstrate having passed this Virginia licensure requirement.
 - c. Evaluation of Student Intern form (Appendix H)
 - d. Summary reflection and professional growth plan - Your summary reflection should include a summary of what you have learned, integrated across the six standards and focus on the two or three most important lessons you take away from your internship. In addition, reflect on how your internship experience revealed the two or three ways you feel you most need to grow as a leader. Your professional growth plan stems from your reflection concerning your growth needs – what commitments do you make to continue your development as a school leader? Your plan should outline what you plan to do over the next three years.
 - e. A separate section asks for evidence documenting completion of the School Improvement Project, including the following:
 - i. The original plan submitted and graded in EDLE 690
 - ii. If the plan changed substantially, a completed form which reflects the changes.
 - iii. A substantial summary paper (8-10 pages) providing:
 - A description of the project as it was enacted;
 - A summary of the evaluation conducted of the project, including reference to data available relating to attainment of project goals;
 - A description of the status of the project (i.e., Will the project be continued? How or in what way will it be changed?); and
 - An analysis and reflection of the candidate's leadership related to the school improvement project, including what was learned through enactment of the SIP.

APPENDIX A: ELCC BUILDING LEVEL STANDARDS

ELCC Standard 1.0: A building-level education leader applies knowledge that promotes the success of every student by collaboratively facilitating the development, articulation, implementation, and stewardship of a shared school vision of learning through the collection and use of data to identify school goals, assess organizational effectiveness, and implement school plans to achieve school goals; promotion of continual and sustainable school improvement; and evaluation of school progress and revision of school plans supported by school-based stakeholders.

ELCC Standard Element 1.1: Candidates understand and can collaboratively develop, articulate, implement, and steward a shared vision of learning for a school.

APPENDIX C: INTERNSHIP APPLICATION

Dear Internship Site Supervisor:

The intern presenting this letter to you is requesting that you provide professional guidance as site supervisor for his/her internship in the George Mason University College of Education and Human Development Education Leadership Program. It is our hope that this arrangement will be mutually beneficial, as we require interns to address “real life” experiences and situations at their assigned sites.

The requirements and protocol for Education Leadership interns are explained in the Internship Manual, which your assigned intern can share with you. As the site supervisor, we ask that you review your intern’s plan very carefully and indicate your approval to the intern. We also require that you complete the evaluation of student intern form (Appendix H in the Manual) after your intern has fully implemented his/her internship plan. This evaluation should be shared with and given to the intern. It will be included as part of each intern’s Collective Record of internship activities.

One of the purposes of the internship program is to provide opportunities for our students to apply their skills and knowledge in authentic situations under the leadership of experienced professionals. Your willingness to participate in this aspect of our licensure program is extremely important to the future success of our interns, our schools, and the children we serve. I encourage you to nurture a mentoring relationship with the intern under your supervision to make the experience as rich and rewarding as possible. Making yourself available to the intern on a regular basis is a big part of that process. Meeting with your intern once or twice a month would be most appreciated; weekly would be ideal.

If you agree to serve as site supervisor, please sign and date the intern’s Education Leadership Internship Application Form. We sincerely appreciate your assistance in helping us to develop outstanding candidates for school leadership positions. We invite your review and comments regarding any phase of the internship as we continue to revise our programs to meet the needs of the individuals and school divisions in our region.

Thanks again for your help with the internship experience.

APPENDIX D: INTERNSHIP PLAN

The internship plan should provide a roadmap of the activities you intend to participate in to demonstrate what you know and are able to do as an aspiring school leader. The plan should consider the full range of leadership proficiencies embedded in the ELCC Standards (see Appendix A), include the required activities (Appendix B), and for the remaining activities you select, build on your understanding of the specific proficiencies you most need to develop as a school leader (based on your past leadership experiences and already-demonstrated abilities).

In addition to any resources your internship supervisor and site supervisor may make available to you to help you plan your internship activities, you may wish to consult the following:

Martin, G., Wright, W., Danzig, A., Flanary, R., & Brown, F. (2005). School leader internship, 2nd ed. Larchmont, NY: Eye on Education.

In this manual, the authors provide a breakdown of the skills and abilities that are embedded in each of the six ELCC standards, and list a wide sample of activities that might be undertaken to help develop these skills.

The Internship Plan may take a variety of forms, as guided by the internship supervisor, but must include the following:

- A synopsis of each activity the intern intends to include in the internship, organized by ELCC standard;
- A projected timeline describing when the intern intends to be involved in each activity (e.g., Fall 2011); and
- A description of the role the intern plans to play in each activity (i.e., leader; assistant; participant; observer).

As described earlier, the activities included in the internship should be varied and include placements at multiple levels (e.g., district, elementary, etc.), not just the intern's home school. To the greatest extent possible, it is advantageous for the intern to play an active leadership role in internship activities.

The following table provides a sample of possible internship activities organized by standard, including the skill and experience areas aligned to each standard in the Martin, et al. (2005) book, referred to earlier. These examples are NOT meant to be a laundry list of required activities; they are provided only as illustrations. The internship plan should be individualized to the greatest extent possible based on a range of factors, including the intern's leadership development needs; timing; opportunities available; and the needs of the school and school district.
