May and August 2018 Graduates

Your first stop is the Office of the University Registrar Graduation website. Important information about timelines and the entire graduation process can be found at registrar.gmu.edu/graduation.

All George Mason University graduates must apply to graduate even if they do not plan to participate in Commencement ceremonies. If you will complete your degree requirements in May, you should have already applied for spring 2018 graduation. If you have not done so, you should apply immediately. The deadline to apply online (Patriot Web) is February 22, 2018. If you do not apply online by that date, you must submit a paper Late Graduation Application, as described on the Graduation website.

If you will complete your degree requirements in August and would like to participate in the Spring Commencement ceremonies, your deadline to apply is February 22, 2018. Undergraduate and Master’s August graduation candidates may participate in the spring ceremony. August 2018 doctoral candidates will participate in the Winter 2018 Graduation and are not eligible to participate in the spring 2018 ceremony.

Please remember that you must apply to graduate by February 22 or your name will not appear in the printed Commencement program.

- Thesis and dissertation deadlines are posted at thesis.gmu.edu.
- Students who have placed a confidential hold on their record will be excluded from the graduation program. If you have a confidential hold and wish for your name to be included in the program, the hold must be removed by February 22, 2018.

George Mason University Commencement

The 51st annual George Mason University Spring Commencement is Friday, May 18, 2018, at 10 a.m. in the EagleBank Arena. The complete schedule of all graduation ceremonies is inside.

The following degree candidates are eligible to participate in the Commencement ceremony:

What’s the difference between Commencement and the Degree Celebrations?

Commencement—Friday, May 18, 10 a.m., EagleBank Arena
The entire university community is invited to this formal event at which degrees are ceremoniously conferred by the university president.
- Ceremony begins with a graduate procession through campus. Procession begins moving at 9:30 a.m.
- Official university guest speaker delivers Commencement address.
- Selected student speaker representing the Class of 2018 delivers address. Visit gmu.edu/graduation for entry details.
- Event is televised.
- Tickets are not required for guests.
- PhD graduates are individually recognized, hooded, and photographed on stage receiving their degrees. All graduates are acknowledged by deans or directors and the university president.
- Caps and gowns are worn.

Degree Celebrations—See schedule on previous page.
These are celebrations of degrees sponsored by individual units.
• Individual school and college graduates only.
• All guests are welcome; tickets are not required except where noted.
• All graduates are individually recognized and photographed on stage.
• Each school and college selects speakers.
• Caps and gowns are worn.

Graduates are encouraged to attend both the official university Commencement ceremony and their specific degree celebration ceremony.

Guest Attendance Information for Commencement Ceremony, May 18, 10 a.m.
Seating is open and available on a general admission basis.
Guest tickets for the Commencement ceremony are not required.
Doors open at 9 a.m. for all guests. It is advisable to arrive at this time.
If EagleBank Arena reaches capacity, the overflow viewing area will be in the Concert Hall on Mason Pond Drive, across Patriot Circle from the arena. Shuttles will be available at the South Entrance to transport anyone needing assistance to the Concert Hall.
Seating in all sections of the EagleBank Arena, Rows E, F, and G are marked reserved for special needs. These rows are on the concourse level and are easy access seating without requiring the use of stairs.
Wheelchair accessible seating is available in the four corner portals 4, 8, 13, and 17.
Ushers are stationed at each portal to help with seating.
All bachelor’s and master’s graduates should meet at Wilkins Plaza for the processional lineup. Doctoral candidates should meet in the Johnson Center Atrium for lineup.

IMPORTANT: Graduates, for security reasons, be prepared to present your Mason ID or provide your G number when you arrive at Wilkins Plaza or EagleBank Arena. Please do not carry a bag or purse to the event as this may delay entry into the arena.
Inform your guests of the EagleBank Arena security policy found at www.eaglebankarena.com/security-policy.
Check regularly for updates and additional information at gmu.edu/graduation.

Caps and Gowns
Commencement at Mason is a traditional ceremony where graduates and faculty wear caps and gowns. The required academic regalia can only be obtained from the George Mason University Bookstore. Master’s candidates must also wear a master’s hood. Please state your field of study when purchasing your hood because different colors denote different fields of study.

Master’s Degree Recipients
Be sure to verify your correct hood color against your specific field of study listed below.
