NCATE/IRA STANDARDS AND PERFORMANCE-BASED ASSESSMENTS

Throughout the literacy masters programs, students are required to satisfactorily complete one or more performance-based assessments (PBAs) in each course and are required to submit these to an electronic system entitled "TaskStream." Satisfactory completion of every PBA as well as posting to TaskStream is required before moving to the next course. The TaskStream assessment system can be found at <https://www.taskstream.com/pub/>. Students are REQUIRED to submit the designated PBA to each course instructor so that the assignment can be evaluated when the assignment is due. Only assignments/PBAs posted to TaskStream will be assessed. No final grades for courses will be posted until ALL required PBAs are posted to TaskStream.

CLASS REQUIREMENTS

1. Class attendance is extremely important due to the interactive nature of the course. If, due to an emergency, you will not be in class, you must contact the instructor and leave a message. Two or more absences will result in a lowered grade because essential class work will be missed.
2. The completion of all readings assigned for the course is assumed. Because the class will be structured around discussion and small group activities pertaining to literacy assessments and interventions, it is imperative that students keep up with the readings and participate in class.
3. The university requires that all pagers and cell phones be turned off before class begins.
4. It is expected that assignments will be turned in on time (the beginning of the class in which they are due). However, it is recognized that graduate students may occasionally have serious circumstances arise that prevent the completion of work by the assigned due date. If such a dilemma arises, please speak to the instructor in a timely fashion. If you do not let the instructor know in a timely fashion, points will be deducted for each day the assignment is late. Make sure you back up all your work.

EXPECTATIONS FOR WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS

All written assignments prepared outside of class will be evaluated for content and presentation as graduate-level writing. The American Psychological Association, Fifth Edition (APA) style will be followed for all written work. All written work unless otherwise noted must be completed on a word processor and should be proofread carefully. (Use spell check!) If you are not confident of your own ability to catch errors, have another person proofread your work. The organization of your papers (e.g., headings organization, references, citations etc.) should follow APA style. When in doubt, check the APA manual: : <http://www.apastyle.org/pubmanual.html> Portions of the APA manual also appear at the Style Manuals link on the GMU library web guide at <http://library.gmu.edu/resources/edu/>.

Besides the specific criteria described in the assignments that follow, I will be grading your papers on four general criteria:

1. Clarity: Presentation of ideas in a clear, concise, and organized manner. (Avoid wordiness and redundancy.)
2. Organization and writing style: Develop points coherently, definitively, and thoroughly.
3. Refer to appropriate authorities, studies, and examples to document where appropriate. Support your ideas with the concepts learned and developed in class and from your readings. Avoid meaningless generalizations, unwarranted assumptions, and unsupported opinions.
4. Use correct capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and grammar.

Your final grade will be given only after your assignments are uploaded to Taskstream.

ASSIGNMENTS

Term Project, Part A: State and School-Wide Focus.

1. Data Gathering: You will download reading and writing assessment data for your school from your state website (Virginia, D.C. or Maryland) (School Report Card). In class, as an individual, with a partner, and with your teacher colleagues, discuss the measurements used, AYP and AMO criteria, and groups “at risk.” Also discuss your state’s testing framework.
2. Summarize: Prepare a handout or 15 minute PowerPoint for colleagues at your school that summarizes the information learned in #1. Then meet with a small group of school colleagues (such as your school team), share this handout/PowerPoint, and lead a discussion about the meaning/potential importance of the information as well as “next steps” (how to apply this information to instruction). Lead your colleagues in analyzing portions of the test data to discover implications for their own teaching.
3. Reflection and Analysis: Write a 4-5 page reflection/analysis
 - describe the quantitative and qualitative data you obtained from the School Report Card
 - report what you learned about the role of the reading specialist/literacy coach from sharing this information with your school and class colleagues.
 - Address how your state’s testing program is consistent or inconsistent with the IRA Position Statement on High Stakes Assessment in Reading as well as at least two other sources related to appropriate/inappropriate uses of assessments.
 - discuss, in your view, what should be modified and/or what should remain the same in your state’s assessment system?
 - (Include your handout/PowerPoint as an appendix to the paper).

PART B: Class Focus

In this assignment, you will have the opportunity both to serve as a classmate's literacy coach and to be coached yourself. Complete the following steps together, with partners taking turns assuming the roles of the literacy coach and teacher.

1. Gathering Data: First, create a spreadsheet showing the most recent reading and writing scores for all students in your class on at least three assessments. Include formal (e.g., Virginia SOL, DRA, PALS) and informal (e.g., Running Record), if available.
2. Analyzing Assessments: With a small group in your class, locate and read publishers' information on technical aspects of all of the assessments identified by group members, including reliability/validity. Prepare a handout on this information (one page per assessment) and share with your classmates (within your class, the goal is to analyze as many assessments as possible). Include a description of the purpose of the assessment (screening, progress monitoring, measuring outcomes).
3. Instructional Needs: Compare your student assessment results with other existing data sources, such as homework and class assignment performance, to analyze individual student performance. Add relevant notes to your spreadsheet. Then make notes on the spreadsheet related to each student's instructional needs in reading and writing. Share and discuss with your partner.
4. Coaching and Lesson Planning: Then, acting as your partner's literacy coach, lead your partner to use the data to make instructional decisions, including flexible grouping arrangements for a specific unit or series of lessons he or she plans to teach in the future. Coach your partner in creating two specific lesson plans for his/her class in which students will be reading and/or writing. Within these plans, specify how students will be grouped for instruction, using (across the two plans) at least two formats (e.g., small group, large group, individual). Also be sure to specify how you will assess student learning during each lesson. You may use the lesson plan format that is standard in your school.
5. Implementation: Implement your lessons.
 - Make a video of at least 15 minutes of one lesson and share it with your coaching partner. Between the lessons, make adjustments as needed to improve outcomes for all students, with special attention to struggling readers. Talk with your coaching partner and discuss each other's results, providing support as needed.
 - Also write a 2-3 page reflection on what you learned about grouping and what you helped your partner learn. Be specific about the suggestions you made to each other and whether these were implemented. Also clearly indicate how you and your partner helped each other create grouping plans linked to the assessment information.
6. Submit: the final spreadsheet (1, 3), the handout you created (2), and one lesson plan (4), your video (5) and your final reflection (5) to Taskstream.
