COURSE DESCRIPTION: Focuses on communication processes and practices used to explain and interpret special characteristics of cultural and environmental resource sites for visitors. Conceptual principles for planning interpretive programs and multi-media delivery techniques are discussed. Methods for programming interpretive services, addressing multi-audience accessibility, and administration and evaluation of interpretive services used at recreation and tourism sites are also examined.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: At the completion of this course, students should be able to:
1. Explain how interpretation is important to the management of tourism, event and recreation resource sites;
2. Discuss principles of interpretation and communication;
3. Analyze interpretive materials and presentations; and,
4. Prepare several types of effective spoken and written interpretive messages.

Further, upon completion of this course, students will meet the following professional accreditation standard for the Council on Accreditation of Parks, Recreation, and Tourism Related Professions:

| 7B.03 | Understanding the principles and practices of stewardship and use of natural resources and the ability to interpret them to the general public, particularly as related to the public's role in stewardship. |

NATURE OF COURSE DELIVERY:
Face to face in Barbados

COURSE OVERVIEW: In this course, we will examine, discuss, develop, and critique multiple examples of interpretive projects developed by you, your colleagues, and professionals. Because your contributions are important to this course, you will be expected to attend all class meetings scheduled, actively participate in class discussions on-line and in-person, complete in-class exercises as distributed, and fulfill all assignments according to the due dates noted.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: GMU is an Honor Code University; please see the University Catalog for a full description of the code and the honor committee process. The principle of academic integrity is taken very seriously and violations are treated gravely. What does academic integrity mean in this course? First, it means that when you are responsible for a task, you will be the one to perform that task. When you rely on someone else’s work in an aspect of the performance of that task, you will give full credit in the proper, accepted form. Another aspect of academic integrity is the free play of ideas. Vigorous discussion and debate are encouraged in this course, the firm expectation that all aspects of the class will be conducted with civility and respect for differing ideas, perspectives and traditions. When in doubt, please ask for guidance and clarification.

REQUIRED READINGS:

Additional readings as indicated

EVALUATION:
Interpretive Talk: 15%
For this assignment, you will choose a topic, with a specific theme related to a cultural or natural site in Barbados. Then, following the steps for planning, preparing, and delivering a thematic interpretation, you will give a short interpretive talk (without using PowerPoint!).

Brochure Analysis 20%
For this assignment, you will collect an interpretive brochure from the tourism, park, and recreation field related to an attraction and analyze it for its effectiveness at communicating its intended message, as well as for its effectiveness in following interpretive brochure design and communication strategies. You will write a short (approximately 2-3 page) report detailing your assessment of the brochure using criteria identified in our course.

Barbados Cultural Heritage Trail 40%
You will develop an interpretive program to be titled the “Barbados Cultural Heritage Trail” for a specific age group utilizing the cultural and historical spaces from The Boardwalk through Bridgetown and out to the Mt Gay Factory and the Kensington Oval. You will design an interpretive guide that will be presented in a professional setting.
