Course Description

This is an advanced course in the interpretation and application of education research methods. Emphasizes comparison of alternative philosophies of research, ways of formulating questions/hypotheses, research plans, and analysis procedures. Students evaluate existing studies and investigate a range of research approaches.

Prerequisites: Admission to the Ph.D. program or permission of instructor.

Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of the course, students should:

- be able to understand what research is, and how it differs from other intellectual and practical activities in education;
- be able to understand the major approaches to educational research, and the implications of the differences between these for doing and evaluating research in education;
- be able to find, understand, evaluate, and apply published research that is relevant to their field;
- be able to design the basic components of small-scale research studies, both quantitative and qualitative, including
 - identifying a research problem to study
 - formulating the purposes of the study
 - developing a conceptual framework for the study
 - generating appropriate research questions
 - planning relevant and feasible methods of sampling, data collection, and analysis
 - anticipating plausible validity threats, and thinking of ways to deal with these
 - dealing appropriately with ethical issues in the research
- be able to write clearly and coherently about the conceptual framework, questions, and methods used in a research study;
- be able to use the writing style described in the Sixth Edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) for writing term and research papers;

- be able to reflect on their actions and choices and use that reflection to inform practice;
- be able to present written research results clearly and coherently.

Course Methodology: This course consists of lectures, large group and electronic discussion, in class activities, and individual/group assignments.

Course Evaluation

1. Homework Assignments: Students will be asked to work individually or in groups of 2-3 students on two homework assignments (all assignments, including homework assignment 1 on APA and homework assignment 2 brief literature review are clearly described on Blackboard).

2. Human Subjects Online Training: Students will be asked to complete Mandatory Training for Persons Conducting Research Using Human Subjects. Information is available online: <http://www.gmu.edu/research/ORSP/HumanSubjects.html>. The training takes between two and five hours and can be accessed from: <http://www.citiprogram.org> Copy and paste your completion certificate, then place a copy of certification of training completion on the relevant assignment box Blackboard site and email me when you complete the training.

3. Human Subjects Proposal: Students will write a human subjects proposal to accompany a quantitative intervention research method section and one to accompany a quantitative research study. The materials are available on the web and the class Black Board site: <http://www.gmu.edu/pubs/osp/humansubjects.html>. Turn in place an electronic version on the relevant assignment box Blackboard site.

4. Evaluation of Empirical Research Articles: Students will write a review of one quantitative intervention study and one qualitative study. The critiques should include the following parts:

- purpose
- methods
- results
- critical comments
- your reflections about the article (see Blackboard site for specific instructions).

5. Method Sections: Students will write two different method sections replicating and extending previous research studies. Each method section will be written in APA format (see sample paper on pp 41-59 of the APA manual) and contain relevant sections specific to each type of research design. One will be a quantitative intervention research study; one will be a qualitative research study. Please turn in electronic versions attached to an email sent to the professor at epeters1@gmu.edu so that they may be graded electronically – You will be required to keep graded assignments in your doctoral portfolio.

1. Statement of purpose and research questions, including a statement indicating research you are replicating and extending and a relevant citation for the study. This portion should include a relevant literature review to demonstrate a basic level of knowledge of the research that has already been accomplished in the field of interest. A rough estimate of references would be approximately 10, but more may be needed to establish the research questions.

2. Method (5-6 pages)

Participants and setting

Materials

Data sources (dependent variables) instrumentation (where relevant)

Research design

Procedures (proposed data collection process)

Proposed preliminary data analyses (bonus section)

3. References

6. Method Section Presentation: One method section will be presented orally using audio-visual aides (e.g., power point slides) during a ten-minute presentation. Place a copy of the slides on digital black board. Sign up sheets for presentation times will be distributed in class. Sample power point templates will be available.

7. In Class Assignments, Participation, and Attendance Policy: Students will be asked to work individually or in groups of 2-3 students in class assignments throughout the semester (all assignments are described on Blackboard). Because of the importance of lecture and discussion to your total learning experience, I wish to encourage you to both attend and participate in class regularly. Attendance, punctuality, preparation, and active contribution to small and large group efforts are essential. These elements of your behavior will reflect the professional attitude implied in the course goals and will account for 10% of your course grade. With reference to the grading scale described later in this syllabus, you will note that this percentage is equivalent to a full letter grade. Students who must miss a class must notify the instructor (preferably in advance) and are responsible for completing all assignments and readings for the next class.

8. Bring flash drive or other relevant media to class in order to save work completed during class.
