

College of Education and Human Development

Early Childhood Education Program
4400 University Drive, MS 4B3, Fairfax, Virginia 22030
Phone: 703-993-3844; Fax: 703-993-4370; email: earlyed@gmu.edu
<https://gse.gmu.edu/programs/earlychildhood/>

ECED 512
Language and Literacy Assessment and Instruction for Diverse Young Learners (3:3:0)
Spring 2012
Tuesday 7:20-10:00 pm
Thompson Hall 1020

Instructor: Katina Kearney

Telephone:

Email address: kkearney@gmu.edu

Office hours: By appointment

Course Description

Examines ways to assess and develop reading, writing, listening, and speaking in preschool through third-grade classrooms. Addresses instructional strategies and practices that promote language and literacy development in culturally, linguistically, and ability diverse children.

Prerequisite

Admission to the Early Childhood Education program or approval of course instructor.

Nature of Course Delivery

This course utilizes a distributed learning format requiring active participation of all students. Students are expected to complete all class readings prior to each session to engage in active dialogue, productive learning, and critical reflection. Activities will include instructor presentation, small-group discussions, workshop experiences, student presentations, videos, and whole class sharing to support course content. Accessing Blackboard for group projects and resources may be necessary periodically throughout the semester.

Learner Outcomes

This course is designed to enable students to do the following:

1. Describe research-based teaching and assessment strategies and approaches that (a) promote reading, writing, and oral language development using a balanced phonics and literacy approach; (b) include a focus on motivation, writing, spelling, phonological awareness (including phonemic awareness), phonics, word recognition, fluency, vocabulary and concept development, and comprehension; and (c) are appropriate to instructional purposes and prek-3 students' individual differences (abilities, interests, cultural and linguistic backgrounds, gender).
2. Apply knowledge of language and literacy development when planning and implementing language and literacy assessment and instruction that identifies and meets the specific needs of individual prek-3 students, including children with varying abilities, languages, and cultural backgrounds.

3. Describe ways to create a literacy-rich environment and develop instructional experiences that promote prek-3 students' interest and engagement in independent reading and writing and foster an appreciation of a variety of literature, including fiction and nonfiction children's literature and technology resources.
4. Describe ways to promote comprehension strategies, including predicting, retelling, summarizing, and making connections beyond the text, in all content areas and when reading fiction and nonfiction.
5. Model writing strategies prek-3 students can use throughout the writing process to plan, draft, revise, edit, and publish.

Professional Standards

This course is aligned with the standards established by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC).

Required Text

Tompkins, Gail. (2011). Literacy in the early grades (3rd ed.). Boston: Pearson.

Required Articles

- Barone, D. (2011). Welcoming families: A parent literacy project in a linguistically rich, high poverty school. Early Childhood Education Journal, 38, 377-384.
- Crawford, P.A., & Zygouris-Coe, V. (2006). All in the family: Connecting home and school with family literacy. Early Childhood Education Journal, 33(4), 261-267.
- Hassett, D.D. (2009). Children's literature and early literacy success: Using the Charlotte Zolotow award collection in early childhood teacher education. Journal of Early Childhood Teacher Education, 3, 363-384.
- Hill, S. (2011). Towards ecologically valid assessment in early literacy. Early Child Development and Care, 181(2), 165-180
- Invernizzi, M., Landrum, T.J., Teichman, A., & Townsend, M. (2010). Increased implementation of emergent literacy screening in pre-kindergarten. Early Childhood Education Journal, 37, 437-446.
- Lane, H.B., & Allen, S.A. (2010). The vocabulary-rich Classroom: Modeling sophisticated word use to promote word consciousness and vocabulary growth. The Reading Teacher, 63(5), 362-370.
- McCloskey, E. (2012). Conversations about jail: Inclusive settings for critical literacy. Early Childhood Education Journal.
- Risko, V. J., & Walker-Dalhouse, D. (2010). Making the most of assessments to inform instruction. The Reading Teacher, 63(5). 420-422.
- Skouge, J.R., Rao, K., & Boisvet, P.C. (2007). Promoting early literacy for diverse learners using audio and video technology. Early Childhood Education Journal, 35(1), 5-11.
- Souto-Manning, M. (2009). Negotiating culturally responsive pedagogy through multicultural children's literature: Towards critical democratic literacy practices in a first grade classroom. Journal of Early Childhood Literacy, 9(50), 50-74.

Spencer, T.G., Falchi, L., & Ghiso, M.P. (2011). Linguistically diverse children and educators (re)forming early literacy policy. Early Childhood Education Journal, 39, 115-123.

William, S., Sherry, T., Robinson, N., & Hungler, D. (2012). The practice page as a mediational tool for interactive writing instruction. The Reading Teacher, 65(5), 330-340.

*Additional required readings (articles, chapters, websites, etc.) will be provided as relevant.

George Mason University Policies and Resources for Students

- Academic integrity (honor code, plagiarism) – Students must adhere to guidelines of the George Mason University Honor Code [See <http://academicintegrity.gmu.edu/honorcode/>].
- Mason Email – Students are responsible for the content of university communications sent to their George Mason University email account and are required to activate their account and check it regularly. All communication from the university, college, school, division, and program will be sent to students solely through their Mason email account. Students must follow the university policy for Responsible Use of Computing [See <http://universitypolicy.gmu.edu/1301ge.html>].
- Counseling and Psychological Services – The George Mason University Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) staff consists of professional counseling and clinical psychologists, social workers, and counselors who offer a wide range of services (e.g., individual and group counseling, workshops, and outreach programs) to enhance students' personal experience and academic performance [See <http://caps.gmu.edu/>].
- Office of Disability Services – Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the George Mason University Office of Disability Services (ODS) and inform their instructor in writing at the beginning of the semester <http://ods.gmu.edu/>].
- Students must follow the university policy stating that all sound emitting devices shall be turned off during class unless otherwise authorized by the instructor.
- The Writing Center (Optional Resource) – The George Mason University Writing Center staff provides a variety of resources and services (e.g., tutoring, workshops, writing guides, handbooks) intended to support students as they work to construct and share knowledge through writing [See <http://writingcenter.gmu.edu/>].
- University Libraries (Optional Resource) – The George Mason University Libraries provide numerous services, research tools, and help with using the library resources [See <http://library.gmu.edu/>].

For additional information on the College of Education and Human Development, Graduate School of Education, please visit our website [See <http://gse.gmu.edu/>].

Core Values Commitment: The College of Education and Human Development is committed to collaboration, ethical leadership, innovation, research-based practice, and social justice. Students are expected to adhere to these principles.

Collaboration

Collaboration is an important human activity that involves shared responsibility in promoting healthy, productive lives, and educational success. We commit ourselves to work toward these goals in genuine partnerships with individuals, families, community agencies, schools, businesses, foundations, and other groups at the local, regional, national, and international levels.

Ethical Leadership

In all professions represented by the college, leadership is an essential component denoting ability and willingness to help lead professional practice to higher levels. We commit ourselves to practice ethical leadership through deliberate and systematic attention to the ethical principles that guide all leaders in a moral society.

Innovation

We have a history of creating dynamic, innovative programs, and we are dedicated to continue creating innovative approaches in all areas of our work. We commit ourselves to seeking new ways to advance knowledge, solve problems, improve our professional practice, and expand on our successes.

Research-Based Practice

The best practice in any discipline is based upon sound research and professional judgment. We commit ourselves to basing our instruction, scholarship, and policy recommendations on well-established principles that, wherever possible, emerge from research and reflection on its implications for professional practice.

Social Justice

Social justice embodies essential principles of equity and access to all opportunities in society, in accordance with democratic principles and respect for all persons and points of view. We commit ourselves to promoting equity, opportunity, and social justice through the college's operations and its missions related to teaching, research, and service.

Course Requirements

General Requirements

1. The completion of all readings assigned for the course is assumed. Because the class will be structured around discussion and small group activities, it is imperative that students keep up with the readings and participate in class.
2. Attendance in class is important to students' learning; therefore, students are expected to make every effort to attend class sessions. Absences, tardiness, and leaving early may negatively affect course grades. If, due to an emergency, students will not be in class, they must call the instructor and leave a message or send an email before class. The following policy is from the university course catalog:

Students are expected to attend the class periods of the courses for which they register. In-class participation is important not only to the individual student, but also to the class as a whole. Because class participation may be a factor in grading, instructors may use absence, tardiness, or early departure as de facto evidence of nonparticipation. Students who miss an exam with an acceptable excuse may be penalized according to the individual instructor's grading policy, as stated in the course syllabus.

3. In line with Mason's policy that students should not be penalized because of observances of their religious holidays, students shall be given an opportunity to make up, within a reasonable time, any academic assignment that is missed due to individual participation in religious observances. It is the student's responsibility to inform the instructor of any intended absences for religious observations in advance of the class that will be missed. Notice should be provided in writing as soon as possible.
4. During face-to-face meetings, cell phones, pagers, and other communicative devices are not allowed in this class. Students must keep them stowed away and out of sight. Laptops or tablets (e.g., iPads) may be permitted for the purpose of taking notes only, but students must submit a request in writing to do so. Engaging in activities not related to the course (e.g. gaming, email, chat, etc.) will result in a significant deduction in their participation grade.
5. It is expected that assignments will be turned in on time (the beginning of the class in which they are due). However, it is recognized that students occasionally have serious problems that prevent work completion. If such a dilemma arises, students should speak to the instructor prior to the assignment due date (when possible). If the student does not communicate with the instructor, a late penalty will be applied.
6. Mason is an Honor Code university; please see the Office for Academic Integrity for a full description of the code and the honor committee process. The principle of academic integrity is taken very seriously and violations are treated gravely. What does academic integrity mean in this course? Essentially this: when responsible for a task, students will perform that task. When students rely on someone else's work in an aspect of the performance of that task, they will give full credit in the proper, accepted form. Another aspect of academic integrity is the free play of ideas. Vigorous discussion and debate are encouraged in this course, with the firm expectation that all aspects of the class will be conducted with civility and respect for differing ideas, perspectives, and traditions. When in doubt (of any kind), students will ask for guidance and clarification.

Written Assignments

All written assignments prepared outside of class will be evaluated for content and presentation. The American Psychological Association, Sixth Edition (APA) style will be followed for all written work. All written work unless otherwise noted must be completed on a word processor and should be proofread carefully. (Use spell check!) If students are not confident of their own ability to catch errors, they should have another person proofread their work. When in doubt, they should check the APA manual. Portions of the APA manual appear at the Style Manuals link on the Mason library web guide at <http://library.gmu.edu/resources/edu/>. Students may consult the Writing Center for additional writing support.

Students will do the following:

1. Present ideas in a clear, concise, and organized manner. (Avoid wordiness and redundancy.)
2. Develop points coherently, definitively, and thoroughly.
3. Refer to appropriate authorities, studies, and examples to document where appropriate. (Avoid meaningless generalizations, unwarranted assumptions, and unsupported opinions.)
4. Use correct capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and grammar.

Grading Criteria

A = 95 – 100	A- = 90 – 94	B+ = 87 – 89	B = 83 – 86
B- = 80 – 82	C = 70 – 79	F = < 70

Grading Policy

All CEHD undergraduate and graduate students are held to the university grading policies as described in the Academic Policies section of the current catalog, which can be accessed at <http://catalog.gmu.edu>. Those students enrolled in a CEHD Licensure Graduate Certificate program, however, must earn a B- or better in all licensure coursework. A degree-seeking graduate student will be dismissed after accumulating grades of F in two courses or 9 credits of unsatisfactory grades (C or F) in graduate courses. A 3.0 grade point average is required for completion of the graduate degree.

Specific Course Assignments

Assignments	Due Dates	Points
Attendance & Participation	Ongoing	15
Personal Experience Narrative and Reflection	October 23	20
Group Presentations: Mini-Strategy Share and Workshop Experience (10 points)	November 13 or November 20	20
Comprehensive Literacy Plan	December 4 – written December 11 – oral sharing	45
TOTAL		100

Attendance and Participation (15 points)

Because active participation and engagement are imperative for optimal learning, preparation for and participation in in-class activities will be evaluated based on the following criteria:

- Students attend class, arrive on time, and stay for the entire class period.
- Students complete readings and prepare for class activities prior to class as is evidenced by their ability to discuss and write about the concepts presented and examined in the texts as well as participate fully in related activities.
- Students are actively involved in in-class and online learning experiences as is evidenced by (1) participating in all activities, (2) engaging in small and large group discussions, (3) using laptops and other electronic devices only to support discussion and learning and not for non-academic uses during class time, (4) completing written work related to the activities, and (5) supporting the participation and learning of classmates.

- Students show evidence of critical reflective thinking through in-class and online discussions, activities, and written reflections.

Note: To determine whether the campus is closed due to inclement weather, call 703-993-1000 or go to www.gmu.edu.

Personal Experience Narrative and Reflection (20 points)

Using planning, drafting, revising, editing, and publishing strategies, students will write a narrative about a personal experience they would like to share with their classmates. After completing the narrative, they will write a reflection about the experience. Students will keep all papers related to this project in the pockets of a two-pocket folder. The folder will include the following:

1. A planning sheet that includes the audience, purpose, and topic
2. A brainstormed list of possible topics or ideas for writing
3. A detailed brainstormed list of ideas related to the selected topic
4. A mapping (or web) including the topic, appropriate main ideas, and sufficient details
5. A double-spaced draft written on one side of the paper with evidence of revising and editing
6. A final copy that is word processed (single or double spaced), written in a clear and professional manner, shows evidence of careful editing, and is ready to be shared
7. A written reflection that includes thoughts about themselves as writers as well as teachers of writing

In addition to submitting the written products, students will participate in several in-class activities, including whole class modeling, small-group/peer conferences, and an oral sharing of the final story.

Comprehensive Literacy Plan (45 points)

For this assignment, students will develop a comprehensive literacy plan addressing key components of effective literacy instruction. Students will develop components of the Comprehensive Literacy Plan over the course of the semester.

The Comprehensive Literacy Plan includes four primary components:

1. Students will identify the essential components of a balanced literacy program and provide a research-based rationale for each literacy component.
2. Students will need to “set the stage” by providing a description of the class their exemplar lesson is intended to support. Students will include the age/grade level; number of children; the racial or ethnic, cultural, language, and socio-economic backgrounds of the children; varying abilities of the children; and any other information that provides an understanding of the children in the classroom.
3. Students will demonstrate the use of a variety of assessment tools teachers use to guide instructional decisions and enhance the literacy development of young learners.
4. Students will demonstrate the ability to synthesize the components of a balanced literacy program into a meaningful whole by developing an integrated exemplar literacy unit spanning across approximately one week.

In the Comprehensive Literacy Exemplar Literacy Unit, students will do the following:

- Provide an overview of the literacy experiences that will be included over the course of approximately one week. (For conceptualization purposes, students may elect to use the four-block lesson-planning framework).
- Provide a synopsis of how the exemplar literacy unit will unfold over time and address the major literacy components. (Some literacy components may overlap. Students should explain how the components are interrelated—it is about showing intentionality in providing strategic literacy instruction to all learners).
- Develop a synopsis of how each literacy experience will unfold. Produce and include all relevant materials.
 - Guided reading, (Address Before, During, and After Reading Strategies)
 - Independent reading, (Consider engagement—Before, During, and After Reading Strategies)
 - Phonological awareness
 - Phonics
 - Fluency
 - Vocabulary
 - Comprehension
 - Guided writing
 - Independent writing
 - Read aloud
 - Shared reading
- Describe in detail an overall assessment plan. Students will use the Exemplar Literacy Unit to show how each literacy experience will be assessed. Students will then predict possible student responses and explain how the results of the assessments inform future instructional decisions. Students will think about evaluating the children's oral language, reading, and writing development. Assessments may include oral language proficiency, concepts of print, phonological awareness (including phonemic awareness), letter recognition, sound-symbol knowledge, single word recognition, spelling, decoding, word attack skills, word recognition in context, reading fluency, vocabulary and concept development, and oral and silent reading comprehension.
- Describe at least three meaningful home-school literacy connections. Students will justify the experiences selected and describe the impact their home-school experience may have on students and their families.
- Identify and justify at least two relevant pieces of technology to enhance literacy development.
- Include reference citations (e.g., all titles of children books used and all references used to support their own rationales for the literacy component) and a list of all references cited for each of the activities and literacy components discussed and resources utilized in their exemplar lesson, students will include. The paper will follow APA style, 6th edition for cites and references.
- Share either a guided reading or guided writing lesson from their Comprehensive Literacy Exemplar Lesson with their classmates.

Group Presentations: Mini-Strategy Share a Workshop Experience (20 points)

For this assignment, students will work in small groups to select, research, and highlight for the rest of the class a compelling area of early childhood literacy. The students will do the following:

1. Select collaboratively an early childhood literacy topic of interest (oral language development, phonemic awareness, vocabulary development, etc.)
2. Gather research articles, instructional resources, informational text, and textbooks on the approved literacy topic
3. Identify a successful researched-based strategy to support students' literacy development in their area of interest after conducting a general search of the literature on their selected literacy topic
4. Select an article for the rest of the class to read prior to their presentation that provides the class with some background knowledge about the literacy topic the group plans to highlight
5. Apply the Anticipate, Build, and Consolidation comprehension strategy in a thoughtful manner
6. Guide participants toward a deeper understanding of the contributive value of the literacy strategy explored in a way that promotes participants' confidence in their ability to apply the strategy purposefully in the future through a 15-20 minute interactive presentation
7. Provide an annotated list of the additional resources (no less than 4) that informed their preparation for the presentation
8. Follow the APA style, 6th edition when citing references

Course Schedule and Topics

Date	Topic	Readings & Assignments Due
August 28	Introduction to Early Literacy Personal Literacy History
September 4	Role of Literacy Teacher Oral Language and English as a Second Language	Chapter 1: Effective Teacher of Reading Chapter 2: Examining Children's Literacy Development
September 11	Classroom-Based Assessment, Portfolio Assessment, and High-Stakes Testing	Chapter 3: Assessing Children's Literacy Development Articles: Hill, 2012; Invernizzi et al., 2010; Risko & Walker-Dalhouse, 2010
September 18	Alphabetic Principle	Chapter 4: Cracking the Alphabetic Code Chapter 5: Learning to Spell Writing Project – Prewriting
September 25	Fluency and Reading Development	Chapter 6: Developing Fluent Readers and Writers Chapter 10: Scaffolding Children's Reading Development
October 2	Writing Development	Chapter 11: Scaffolding Children's Writing Development Article: William, Sherry, Robinson, & Hungler, 2012 Writing Project – Drafting & Revising
October 9	No Class: Monday classes meet on Tuesday
October 16	Vocabulary Development	Chapter 7: Building Word Knowledge Article: Lane & Allen, 2010
October 23	Comprehension Initiate Group Projects	Chapter 8: Facilitating Children's Comprehension: Reader Factors Chapter 9: Facilitating Children's Comprehension: Text Factors Writing Project-Peer Editing

Date	Topic	Readings & Assignments Due
October 30	Critical Literacy	Articles: Souto-Manning, 2009; McCloskey, 2012 Writing Project-Publishing Share/present final papers
November 6	Integrating Literacy/ Early Literacy Curricula	Selected group presentation articles due to instructor today-have articles read and ready to justify selection Chapter 12: Integrating Literacy into Thematic Units Article: Hassett, 2009
November 13	Enriching Instruction for Diverse Learners Individual Conferences Regarding Final Comprehensive Literacy Plans Work on Group Project	Article: Spencer, 2011; Skouge, Rao, & Boisvert, 2007 Group presentation articles will be sent to class via email today.
November 20	Group Presentations of a Complete Shared/Guided Reading Lesson	Articles assigned by groups presenting today.
November 27	Group Presentations of a Complete Shared/Guided Reading Lesson	Articles assigned by groups presenting today.
December 4	Connecting Literacy to Home and Communities	Comprehensive Literacy Plan due electronically today by 7PM Articles: Barone, 2011; Crawford & Zygouris-Coe, 2007
December 11	Sharing Comprehensive Literacy Plans Celebration	Students should come prepared to share either their guided reading or guided writing lesson from their Comprehensive Literacy Exemplar Lesson Plan