Course Description

Develops skills, insights, and understanding basic to performing research, with emphasis on interpretation and application of research results. Course critiques research and uses findings in educational settings.

Pre-requisites/Co-requisites: None

Course Objectives

This introductory research course examines connections among theoretical frameworks, research questions, methods of data collection, analysis and reporting. The purpose of this course is to introduce you to an understanding of quantitative, qualitative, and mixed methods inquiry. This will involve reading about research. You will be introduced to the basics of research design, including identifying a problem, conducting a brief literature search, describing data collection and analysis, writing, and ethics. A general intent of the course is to help learners to become better consumers of research, and to understand the ways education research relates to instructional practice and school improvement. Learners will begin to:

1. Gain critical perspectives in order to understand the validity of education research;
2. Use appropriate reference sources to locate publications relevant to a topic of their choice;
3. Understand measures of central tendency and dispersion and their application to important education outcomes;
4. Develop an informed perspective on issues in education that is grounded in contemporary research;
5. Understand how teachers or administrators can use research to enhance instruction and inform practice;
6. Use various social science perspectives as the foundation for advocacy and change; and
7. Be able to apply technology to the task of conducting education research.

Course Methodology

This course consists of lectures, large group and electronic discussion, in class activities, and individual/group assignments.

Required Texts

Creswell, J.W. (2011). Educational Research: Planning, conducting, and evaluating quantitative and qualitative research (4th ed.). Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson Education.

There is a class Blackboard site (mymason.gmu.edu) that contains course documents and relevant links.

Strongly Recommended Text

American Psychological Association (2009). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC.

Course Requirements

It is expected that each of you will:

1. Read all assigned materials for the course.
2. Attend each class session and participate in classroom activities that reflect critical reading of materials.
3. Complete in-class assignments
4. Complete the online Mandatory Training for Persons Conducting Research with Human Subjects.
5. Evaluate and write a review of one quantitative intervention study and one qualitative study.
6. Write a research proposal and present it to the class.

All assignments must follow APA guidelines. Unless otherwise noted, assignments should be electronically submitted and are due by class time on the date indicated. Assignments turned in late without prior approval will be eligible for only 50% of the available points.

Course Evaluation Assignments

All assignments should be emailed to the instructor unless otherwise noted.

1. Human Subjects Online Ethics Training (10 points): Students will complete Mandatory Training for Persons Conducting Research Using Human Subjects. Directions are available online at <http://research.gmu.edu/ORSP/HumanTraining.html>. The training takes between two and five hours. Copy and paste your completion certificate into a word document or save as a PDF.

2. Evaluation of Two Empirical Research Articles (10 points each): Students will write a critique of one quantitative study and one qualitative study obtained from a peer-reviewed journal. The evaluations should include the following parts:
 1. Purpose – a sentence or two describing the purpose of the research
 2. Methods – a paragraph describing how the study was conducted
 3. Results – a paragraph summarizing the main conclusions
 4. Critical Comments – a paragraph or two critiquing the study (e.g., Is the article well organized and clear? Is anything missing? Did the researchers follow appropriate protocols and techniques for the chosen methodology? Are the conclusions logical and based on the data?)

3. Research Proposal (50 points): Students will write a proposal in APA style for a research project focusing on an educational topic of interest. Students should utilize a methodological approach that most appropriately addresses their research question(s). See pp. 41-59 of the APA manual for an example of an APA style paper. The proposal should include:
 1. Literature review to orient the reader to your topic and theoretical framework.
 2. Statement of purpose and research questions, including a statement indicating research you are replicating or extending and relevant citations.
 3. Methods (5-6 pages)
 - Participants and setting
 - Materials
 - Data sources (dependent variables)
 - Instrumentation (where relevant)
 - Research design
 - Procedures (proposed data collection process)
 - Proposed preliminary data analyses (bonus section)
 4. References

4. Research Poster Session (10 points): Students' research proposals will be presented in a roundtable session. Create a PowerPoint with the slides indicated below. Bring copies of the slides (either 3 or 6 per page) to class to share with your classmates. You will be split into groups of 3-4 to have a "roundtable discussion." In this format, each person will take a turn giving an overview of their proposal to the group and answer any questions that arise. You will regroup and share again 2 or 3 times.
 - Title (1 slide)
 - Lit Review (1-2 slides): bullet list of the major points from the previous research (and conceptual framework, if applicable)
 - Research Purpose and Questions (1-2 slides): identify your research purpose and questions (and hypotheses, if applicable)
 - Participants (1 slide): bullet list of key characteristics of the target population and sampling method
 - Instruments (1 slide): bullet list of instruments used
 - Methodology (1-2 slides): bullet list of how the study will be carried out

- Analysis (1 slide): bullet list of proposed analysis (NOTE: This is a bonus section.)
- References (1-2 slides): APA style list of works cited

5. In Class Assignments, Participation, and Attendance Policy (10 points): Students will be asked to work individually or in groups of 2-3 students in class assignments throughout the semester. Because of the importance of lecture and discussion to your total learning experience, I encourage you to both attend and participate in class regularly. Attendance, punctuality, preparation, and active contribution to small and large group efforts are essential. These elements of your behavior will reflect the professional attitude implied in the course goals and will account for 10% of your course grade. With reference to the grading scale described later in this syllabus, you will note that this percentage is equivalent to a full letter grade. Students who must miss a class must notify the instructor (preferably in advance) and are responsible for completing all assignments and readings for the next class.

*Bring flash drive or other relevant media to class in order to save work completed during class.

Student Expectations

Students must adhere to the guidelines of the George Mason University Honor Code [See <http://oai.gmu.edu/honor-code/>].

Please note that:

- o "Plagiarism encompasses the following:
 1. Presenting as one's own the words, the work, or the opinions of someone else without proper acknowledgment.
 2. Borrowing the sequence of ideas, the arrangement of material, or the pattern of thought of someone else without proper acknowledgment."
 (from Mason Honor Code online at <http://mason.gmu.edu/~montecin/plagiarism.htm>)
- o Paraphrasing involves taking someone else's ideas and putting them in your own words. When you paraphrase, you need to cite the source.
- o When material is copied word for word from a source, it is a direct quotation. You must use quotation marks (or block indent the text) and cite the source.
- o Electronic tools (e.g., SafeAssign) may be used to detect plagiarism if necessary.
- o Plagiarism and other forms of academic misconduct are treated seriously and may result in disciplinary actions.

The integrity of the University community is affected by the individual choices made by each of us. GMU has an Honor Code with clear guidelines regarding academic integrity. Three fundamental and rather simple principles to follow at all times are that: (1) all work submitted be your own; (2) when using the work or ideas of others, including fellow students, give full credit through accurate citations; and (3) if you are uncertain about the ground rules on a particular assignment, ask for clarification. No grade is important enough to justify academic misconduct. Plagiarism means using the exact words, opinions, or factual information from another person without giving the person credit. Writers give credit through accepted documentation styles, such as parenthetical citation, footnotes, or endnotes. Paraphrased material must also be cited, using MLA or APA format. A simple listing of books or articles is not sufficient. Plagiarism is the equivalent of intellectual robbery and cannot be tolerated in the academic setting. If you have any doubts about what constitutes plagiarism, please see me.

Students with disabilities who seek accommodations in a course must be registered with the George Mason University Office of Disability Services (ODS) and inform their instructor, in writing, at the beginning of the semester [See <http://ods.gmu.edu/>].

Students must follow the university policy for Responsible Use of Computing [See <http://universitypolicy.gmu.edu/1301gen.html>].

Students are responsible for the content of university communications sent to their George Mason University email account and are required to activate their account and check it regularly. All communication from the university, college, school, and program will be sent to students solely through their Mason email account.

Students must follow the university policy stating that all sound emitting devices shall be turned off during class unless otherwise authorized by the instructor.

Students are expected to exhibit professional behaviors and dispositions at all times. Please visit this link to remind you of the Professional Dispositions expected for the College of Education and Human Development and the American Psychological Association:
