COURSE DESCRIPTION:
Analyzes sport from educational, political, economic, and cultural perspectives.

This course examines the role of sport in contemporary American society. Through the utilization of scholarly interpretations, students examine the way sport is linked to the structure and dynamics of social life. Particular attention is devoted to the interrelationship between sport, society, social organizations, and social change.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. How and why sport (and certain sports in particular) have been created and organized in certain ways.
2. The connection between sports and other spheres of social life, such as family, education, politics, the economy, the media, and religion.
3. How sports and sport participation inform the way people think about their own bodies and about gender, social class, race and ethnicity, and disability.
4. The social organization, group behavior, and social interaction patterns that exist within sport settings.
5. The social processes that occur in conjunction with sports (e.g., socialization, competition, cooperation, conflict, social stratification, social change).

POLICIES

1. Participation: Attendance is essential for the success of the class. Much of your work is based on information from the lectures and participation in class discussions. Should you miss an assignment due to absence, you will be allowed to make it up provided that you have written documentation regarding the nature of the absence.
2. Written Assignments: Written assignments will be expected to demonstrate college quality writing. Papers and written assignments not turned in on the specified day will be given a grade lower than the one deserved. For example, an "A" assignment submitted late will be given a grade of "B."
3. Honor Policy: George Mason University take its honor policy quite seriously. Examinations, papers, and other assignments must be your own work with the only exception of group projects.

NATURE OF COURSE DELIVERY: Face-To-Face
