COURSE DESCRIPTION:

An examination of curriculum, content, and teaching methods appropriate for middle and high school physical education programs. The course includes teaching experiences at the middle or high school level in public schools.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course teacher candidates should be able to:

1. Use different forms of assessment (e.g. formative, peer, self) in order to evaluate learners' motor, cognitive, and affective skills and use that information to inform the learner, and design activities appropriate to learners' needs in all three domains.
2. Apply a systematic approach to curriculum development for identifying, selecting and implementing learning activities appropriate for a wide range of skill ability and learning styles.
3. Accommodate learners' different styles of learning by using different means of communication (e.g. poster, task card) when peer-teaching in class and during the field experience.
4. Develop a sequence of lesson plans related to motor skills taught at their field experience placement that is appropriate, realistic and relevant to learners and implement one of the lesson plans.
5. Develop a unit plan (i.e. program and instructional goals, tasks, instructional strategies, assessment procedures, & safety issues) that will accommodate different learning styles.
6. Teach a lesson from the unit plan to peers, and modify it to ensure learner progress, motivation, and safety, if necessary.
7. Use reflective techniques with learners such as self-assessment and reflection on their knowledge, experiences, and skills, to foster learner responsibilities for one's own learning.
8. Use available technology and other kinds of resources (e.g. printed material) to select and implement appropriate learning experience, identify strategies to promote physical activities in schools and in the community, and foster personal growth.
9. Teach outdoor recreation/adventure, dance/rhythm, sports/games and fitness activities that will appeal to learners and encourage them to be active inside and outside of the school.
10. Develop activities in which learners have to demonstrate appropriate personal and social behavior such as respect for others and cooperation, in order to have a productive environment.
11. Describe different motivational strategies to manage learners' behaviors and improve learning.
12. Describe and use teaching styles that stimulate interactions, involve the learners cognitively, and promote different ways of thinking.
13. Use their field experience to establish connections with partners in the field to support eventual learner growth.
14. Describe the different major educational philosophies and values orientations, and recognize teaching behaviors that will reflect them.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

GMU is an Honor Code university; please see the Office for Academic Integrity for a full description of the code and the honor committee process. The principle of academic integrity is taken very seriously and violations are treated gravely. What does academic integrity mean in this course? Essentially this: when you are responsible for a task, you will perform that task. When you rely on someone else's work in an aspect of the performance of that task, you will give full credit in the proper, accepted form. When in doubt (of any kind) ask for guidance and clarification.

NASPE NATIONAL STANDARDS AND VIRGINIA STANDARDS OF LEARNING

Both sets of standards identify fundamental and essential concepts, skills, competencies, and dispositions that are central to designing and teaching quality physical education programs. While they are not listed here, each set of standards is/will be provided and are accessible via electronic resourcing and will be central to students' work in this course.

Attendance Policy

In accordance with the GMU Attendance Policies (University catalog, 2004-2005 p.33), "Students are expected to attend the class periods of the courses for which they register. In-class participation is important to the individual student and to the class as a whole. Because class participation may be a factor in grading, instructors may use absence, tardiness or early departure as de facto evidence of non-participation."

The following scale will be used

- One (1) absences is permitted
- Two (1) "tardies"*= 1 absence
- Two (1) "early departures"* = 1 absence
- 2 absences = 10 grade points
- 3 absences or more = 15 grade points

*Attendance is taken at 3:30 pm. A student will be considered late once attendance has been taken. Leaving more than 10 minutes before the end of the class will be considered an early departure.
