Enhances knowledge of and involvement in counseling research by introducing techniques and principles used to design, implement, and evaluate research projects and program development in community and school settings.

C. Expanded Course Description

This course will provide an introduction to research methods, questions, and trends in the field of counseling. Readings and discussions will be used to explore the research process and highlight its role in the field of counseling. Students will be required to write a research proposal. Students will be encouraged to plan a proposal that could serve as the basis for an independent study, dissertation, or development of a school- or community-based counseling program. Consistent with the mission of the Counseling and Development Program, the course strives to develop in students a perspective that incorporates a focus on multiculturalism, advocacy, leadership, social justice and/or internationalism.

LEARNER OUTCOMES or OBJECTIVES:

This course is designed to enable students to:

- Articulate relevant social justice and multicultural issues related to research in counseling.
- Demonstrate an understanding of methodological and theoretical issues driving the field of counseling research today.
- Conceptualize and design a research proposal, including demonstrating the ability to identify research problems, develop research questions, review and apply relevant literature, and communicate design and analysis plans.
- Demonstrate competence in critically evaluating counseling research.
- Write using the APA style.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS:

EDCD 601 prepares students to understand research design and evaluation, including basic statistics, so they can use published research to inform practice in schools and agencies. The course also introduces students to research methodology, enabling them to design and conduct research in academic and community settings. EDCD 601 fulfills the research and evaluation requirement for Virginia state school counseling licensure and for the Virginia Licensed Professional Counselor credential. EDCD 601 meets CACREP standard II.K.h (Research and Program Evaluation) and the Graduate School of Education (GSE) standard of research and scholarship.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

American Psychological Association (2009). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.
Schreiber, J., & Asner-Self, K. (2011). Educational research. Hoboken, NJ: Wiley.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS:

Research Proposal

Students will select a research topic of interest and complete the three components of a research proposal: introduction, literature review, and methods sections. An annotated bibliography will be used to begin the development of the proposal and introduce students to literature on their topic of interest. Students will present their completed research proposal at the end of the course. Research topics are expected to reflect student interests and an aspect of the C&D program mission, which emphasizes social justice, multiculturalism, advocacy, leadership, and internationalism in counseling.

Annotated Bibliography (20% of total grade)

The annotated bibliography is a one of the first steps in the research process. The purpose is to become familiar with literature related to your topic of interest. In this assignment, you will develop skills in locating appropriate articles, as well as summarizing and evaluating the content. Using your database search skills (and assistance as necessary) you will locate five research articles from peer-review (scholarly) journals. Review each article and write an annotation for each (between 150 and 170 words each, not including the citation). Following the article citation, each annotation should include a summary of the content and an evaluation of the article's usefulness and rigor. Include the total word count for the annotation at the end of each annotation. You must adhere to APA (6th ed.) guidelines.

Introduction and Review of the Literature (30% of total grade)

The introduction component of a research paper introduces the reader to your research issue. The purpose of the introduction is to provide a clear and concise overview of your research study including: the research issue/problem in counseling, a rationale for examining this research issue, and the purpose of your study. The introduction should be one page.

The review of the literature will allow you to integrate the knowledge developed from your annotated bibliography to more fully understand your research topic. The literature review should conclude with a restatement of your purpose and your research question(s). The literature review should be four pages.

In addition to the one-page introduction and four-page review of the literature, you will include a title page and reference page(s). You must adhere to APA (6th ed.) guidelines.

Methods Section (20% of total grade)

In this section, you will describe the research methods that you will use to address your research question. You will apply course material and additional readings as necessary. This section should allow other researchers to replicate your study. The methods section should be between two and three pages (not including title and reference pages). You must adhere to APA (6th ed.) guidelines.

Final Research Proposal Presentation (15% of total grade)

After completing the components of the research proposal, you will create a professional conference poster summarizing the main aspects of your proposal. You will present your poster in a symposium held during our class. During the symposium, you will explain your proposal and respond to questions.

Participation (15% of total grade)

Students in Counseling & Development courses are expected to demonstrate a high level of participation consistent with graduate-level education. Students are expected to: be on time and present for the duration of the class; demonstrate engagement (ask questions, share thoughts); be respectful and attentive; and demonstrate preparedness for each class meeting.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a violation of both the George Mason University code of honor and the expected professional dispositions of the Counseling & Development Program. The GMU English Department has developed the following statement regarding plagiarism: "Plagiarism means using the exact words, opinion, or factual information from another person without giving that person credit. Writers give credit through the use of accepted documentation styles, such as parenthetical citation, footnotes, or end notes; a simple listing of books and articles is not sufficient. Plagiarism is the equivalent of intellectual robbery and cannot be tolerated in an academic setting. Student writers are often confused as to what should be cited. Some think that only direct quotations need to be credited. While direct quotations do need citations, so do paraphrases and summaries of opinions or factual information formerly unknown to the writers or which the writers did not discover themselves. Exceptions to this include factual information which can be obtained from a variety of sources, the writer's own insights or findings from their own field research, and what has been termed common knowledge. What constitutes common knowledge can sometimes be precarious, and what is common knowledge for one audience may not be so for another. In such situations, it is helpful to keep the reader in mind and to think of citations as being reader friendly. In other words, writers provide a citation for any piece of information that they think their readers might want to investigate further. Not only is this attitude considerate of readers and establishes credibility, it will almost certainly ensure that writers will never be guilty of plagiarism."

Frequently Asked Questions:

What should I do if I'm having problems with Bb?

Please contact technical support for assistance with Bb: courses@gmu.edu.

What is required for the Mental Measurements Yearbook (MMY) Test Review?

Mental Measurements Yearbook (MMY) is a database of test reviews. If you have questions about accessing the reviews through this database, the library staff can assist (contact Anne Driscoll at adrisco2@gmu.edu). You should find a test reviewed in the MMY, read the reviews, and bring the reviews to class for discussion. You can try to find a test that is of interest to you or would be useful in your proposal. However, you may not find a test that fits your interests exactly, since the MMY is not a comprehensive database and there are many tests that aren't reviewed by MMY.
