UNIVERSITY CATALOGUE COURSE DESCRIPTION
EDLE 634 – Contemporary Issues in Education Leadership examines current and emerging issues and trends impacting education. Includes demographic shifts; globalization; technology; data-based decision making; inclusion of diverse learners in American schools; and recent research on student achievement when influenced by race, gender, and poverty.

COURSE DELIVERY METHOD
Class sessions will consist of lectures, discussions, debate, scenarios and student presentations. Students should see themselves as partners in creating a valuable and memorable educational experience. Under no circumstances, may candidates/students participate in online class sessions (either by phone or Internet) while operating motor vehicles. 3. Research Advocacy Paper 40 points
4. Research Presentation 20 points

Total Possible Points 100 points
Graded Assignments and Participation Expectations

This section briefly describes assignment and class participation expectations. Detailed instructions and grading rubrics are provided at the end of the syllabus. Please review these items carefully before you begin your work.

1. Class Discussion and Participation. Students are expected to actively participate in class by completing readings prior to class discussions. Weekly readings should be completed prior to the class meeting for which they are assigned. Students are also encouraged to share relevant materials and resources to stimulate discussion, learning, and improved practice in the field. (20 points)

2. Issue Brief. Students will select a contemporary issue in education that is of great interest to them and holds important implications for the study and practice of education leadership. Once selected, the student will write an issue brief that: (a) clearly describes the underlying assumptions and arguments informing multiple perspectives on the issue; (b) integrates current research/policy literature and popular media coverage of the issue; (c) analyzes competing perspectives on the prevailing issue and their implications for education leaders, and (d) presents at least three recommendations for policy and/or leadership practice as possible solutions. (20 points) DUE: March 1, 2017 at 11:59 p.m.

3. Research Advocacy Paper. In this culminating research paper, students will synthesize what they have learned about the education issue of their choice, highlighting related research, publicly available data, newly collected data (i.e., stakeholder interview responses) and ways in which their thinking has developed since the initial issue brief. In order to demonstrate the student’s mastery of the course learning objectives, the paper should draw upon relevant course materials and class discussions, findings from at least six research publications/data sources, and stakeholder interviews that expand the student’s knowledge of the issue. The paper should conclude with at least two or more policy recommendations and their rationale for implementation. (40 points) DUE: April 12, 2017 at 11:59 p.m.

4. Research Presentation. The accompanying presentation should succinctly review the research advocacy paper, not to exceed 20 minutes, followed by 10 minutes of Q & A with the audience. (20 points) DUE: April 19, 2017 by the beginning of class.

Written Assignments

All written assignments should be typed, formatted, and free from grammatical, spelling, and typographical errors. They should also be clear, concise, and well organized; incorporating literature and research from and beyond the course to support discussion and debate. Students should use the APA Publication Manual, 6th edition as a guide. I maintain high standards and expectations for quality writing so make sure to consult APA guidelines, colleagues, and/or the GMU Writing Center [http://writingcenter.gmu.edu/] to review and edit your work before turning it in to me. If you have any questions or concerns about your writing, please feel free to contact me before assignments are due.

The grading scale for the final course grade is as follows:

- A+ = 100 points
- A = 95-99 points
- A- = 90-94 points
- B+ = 87-89 points
- B = 83-86 points
