4. Other expectations (e.g., attendance, writing requirements)

- The completion of all readings assigned for the course is assumed. Because the class will be structured around discussion and small group activities, it is imperative that students keep up with the readings and participate in class.

- Attendance in class is important to students' learning; therefore, students are expected to make every effort to attend the summer residency class sessions. Absences, tardiness, and leaving early may negatively affect course grades. If, due to an emergency, students will not be in class, they must call the instructor and leave a message or send an email before class. The following policy is from the university course catalog:
 - Students are expected to attend the class periods of the courses for which they register. In-class participation is important not only to the individual student, but also to the class as a whole. Because class participation may be a factor in grading, instructors may use absence, tardiness, or early departure as de facto evidence of nonparticipation. Students who miss an exam with an acceptable excuse may be penalized according to the individual instructor's grading policy, as stated in the course syllabus.

- All written assignments prepared outside of class will be evaluated for content and presentation. The American Psychological Association, Sixth Edition (APA) style will be followed for all written work. All written work unless otherwise noted must be completed on a word processor and should be proofread carefully. (Use spell check!) If students are not confident of their own ability to catch errors, they should have another person proofread their work. When in doubt, they should check the APA manual. Portions of the APA manual appear at the Style Manuals link on the Mason library web guide at <http://library.gmu.edu/resources/edu/>. Students may consult the Writing Center for additional writing support. Students will do the following:
 - Present ideas in a clear, concise, and organized manner. (Avoid wordiness and redundancy.)
 - Develop points coherently, definitively, and thoroughly.
 - Refer to appropriate authorities, studies, and examples to document where appropriate. (Avoid meaningless generalizations, unwarranted assumptions, and unsupported opinions.)
 - Use correct capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and grammar.

5. Selected performance-based assessment

Legislature Reflection. Think through the work you have done this week, including your preparation for and trip to Richmond, as well as the course readings related to political, cultural, economic and social power and their impact on your ability to exercise leadership. For your Legislature Reflection, address the questions below, conceptualizing the connections you've made to course work and your teaching practice and articulating examples of what you have learned. At a minimum, each question response should be the length of one substantial paragraph. The questions include:

1. What were your expectations prior to the VEA and VDOE visits?
2. What did you discover during and following the visits?
3. What did you learn about leadership from this experience?
4. How did the experience influence your understanding of your role as a leader?
5. How might your insights about leadership impact your actions or plans for action in the context of your classroom and school?

6. TK20 Performance-Based Assessment submission Requirement. Every student registered for any Transformative Teaching course with a required performance-based assessment is required to submit this assessment, Legislature Reflection, to Tk20 through Blackboard (regardless of whether the student is taking the course as an elective, a onetime course or as part of an undergraduate minor). Evaluation of the performance-based assessment by the course instructor will also be completed in Tk20 through Blackboard. Failure to submit the assessment to Tk20 (through Blackboard) will result in the course instructor reporting the course grade as Incomplete (IN). Unless the IN grade is changed upon completion of the required Tk20 submission, the IN will convert to an F nine weeks into the following semester.
