University Catalog Course Description
Examines tourism as a global industry and human activity that promotes and facilitates understanding of historical and cultural values, and of international institutions that characterize the broader global system.

Course Overview
The learning experiences in this course are afforded through lectures, assignments, seminar discussions, readings, film and video material. The course relies on participatory dialogue as well as individual & collaborative learning. This course will be valuable to you only if you actively participate by reading, thinking, and joining in class discussions and activities. You are highly expected to attend all class sessions, actively participate in class discussions and activities, complete in-class exercises, and fulfill all assignments and readings. As the course progresses students should be able to integrate the topics of the course and see how the field of global tourism is broad and complex.

The following requirements reflect the demands of the course. Students will be expected to respect the following policies:

- Official e-mail communications from the instructor will be sent to students’ GMU-assigned e-mail addresses. Students are responsible to check their e-mail inbox and to ensure that there is room to receive incoming correspondence.
- All assigned readings for each week are to be completed prior to class.
- Students will abide by the Mason Honor Code, guided by the spirit of academic integrity.
- No grades or discussion of grades or grade appeals will be carried out over email due to its impersonal nature and security issues. Students can discuss their grades with the instructor in person.
- There will be no make-up assignments given without a valid university excuse. The instructor should be notified 24 hours in advance. The excuse must be written and documented.
- Arrangements for approved make-up assignments should be initiated by the student with the instructor.

Course Delivery Method
This course will be delivered in face-to-face in the classroom, and Blackboard will be used for assignments, tests, some activities, and communications.
Technical Requirements
To participate in this course, students will need to satisfy the following technical requirements:

- High-speed Internet access with a standard up-to-date browser.
- Students must maintain consistent and reliable access to their GMU email and Blackboard, as these are the official methods of communication for this course.

Expectations

- Blackboard and Email: Students must actively and frequently check the course Blackboard site and their GMU email for communications from the instructor, class discussions, and/or access to course materials.
- Participation: Students are expected to actively engage in all course activities throughout the semester, which includes viewing all course materials, completing course activities and assignments, and participating in course discussions and group interactions.
- Attendance: Students are expected to attend class on time and also having finished the assigned readings for that class.
- Technical Issues: Students should anticipate some technical difficulties during the semester and should, therefore, budget their time accordingly. Late work will not be accepted based on individual technical issues.
- Workload: Please be aware that this course is not self-paced. Students are expected to meet specific deadlines and due dates listed in the Class Schedule section of this syllabus. It is the student’s responsibility to keep track of the weekly course schedule of topics, readings, activities and assignments due.
- Instructor Support: Students may schedule a one-on-one meeting to discuss course requirements, content or other course-related issues. Those unable to come to a Mason campus can meet with the instructor via telephone or web conference. Students should email the instructor to schedule a one-on-one session, including their preferred meeting method and suggested dates/times.
- Netiquette: The course environment is a collaborative space. Experience shows that even an innocent remark typed in the online environment can be misconstrued. Students must always re-read their responses carefully before posting them, so as others do not consider them as personal offenses. Be positive in your approach with others and diplomatic in selecting your words. Remember that you are not competing with classmates, but sharing information and learning from others. All faculty are similarly expected to be respectful in all communications.
