Prerequisites

Admission to candidacy in PhD program; successful completion of doctoral qualifying exam; and EDRS 810, 811, and 812 or their equivalents.

University Catalog Course Description

Work on research proposal that forms basis for doctoral dissertation, under guidance of dissertation chair and doctoral committee. Notes: May be repeated, but no more than 6 credits of EDUC 998 may satisfy doctoral degree requirements. Offered by School of Education. May be repeated within the degree for a maximum 12 credits.

Course Overview

In the seminar, students:

- 1. Develop and refine ideas for their doctoral dissertation;
- 2. Establish a doctoral dissertation committee;
- 3. Write drafts of their proposal, leading to the final document.

Course Delivery Method

Group discussions, guest speakers, individual and small group meetings with the instructor, student presentations. Some sessions will be online.

Learner Outcomes or Objectives

With support from this class in addition to students' dissertation advisors and committees, students will complete and successfully defend their doctoral dissertation proposals (as approved by their dissertation committees).

Professional Standards

This course is intended to help students meet a portion of Standard 6 of the Ph.D. in Education program: Students will demonstrate ability to conduct, report, and defend original research in their individual specialization area. This standard is evaluated in Assessment 6, Independent Research Skills, and is administered at the Final Comprehensive Portfolio, Doctoral Dissertation Proposal Defense, and Doctoral Dissertation Defense.

Technical Requirements

To participate in this course, students will need to satisfy the following technical requirements:

- High-speed Internet access with standard up-to-date browsers. To get a list of Blackboard's supported browsers see: Browser support (https://help.blackboard.com/Learn/Student/Getting_Started/Browser_Support#supported-browsers). To get a list of supported operation systems on different devices see: Tested-devices-and-operating-systems)
 (https://help.blackboard.com/Learn/Student/Getting_Started/Browser_Support#tested-devices-and-operating-systems)
- Students must maintain consistent and reliable access to their GMU email and Blackboard, as these are the official methods of communication for this course.
- It is strongly recommended that students use a headset microphone for use with the web conferencing tool.

Expectations

- Technical Competence: Students are expected to demonstrate competence in the use of all course technology. Students who are struggling with technical components of the course are expected to seek assistance from University technical services.
- Technical Issues: Students should anticipate some technical difficulties during the semester and should, therefore, budget their time accordingly.
- Netiquette: Because discussions are a critical aspect of this course, it is important that you plan to log on in a space free from distractions and are able to turn on audio as required during conversations. The expectation is that cameras will be on for the duration of the class.

Required Text

Professional writing style is a very important component of the dissertation. Since the format is complex, master it early and do not wait until the dissertation completion.

Course Performance Evaluation

Students are expected to submit all assignments on time in the manner outlined by the instructor. Please note that the formal assessment for completion of this course is the Doctoral Proposal Defense, as approved by the student's dissertation committee. All assignments are pass/fail.

Assignments

Throughout the semester, exercises and assignments are geared towards helping you, the students, to: (1) identify your own area of research; (2) critically evaluate relevant empirical research; (3) develop a workable research question and/or set of hypotheses; and (4) to select and explain appropriate methodological approaches relevant to the questions generated.

Structured Abstract, Proposal Outline, and Proposal Draft

Each student will draft a structured abstract, an outline, and a first draft of the dissertation proposal chapters. These assignments are designed to help students move forward with writing their final dissertation proposals. Completion of the assignments will enable feedback to be provided from the instructor, class members, and the student's advisor and committee members.

Writing Reflections

Developing consistent writing habits is an important part of being a productive scholar in academia. At the beginning of the course, you will set writing goals and develop a plan for attaining those goals. Throughout the course you will reflect on those goals, and your progress toward them, and revise your plan as needed.

Committee Selection & Status Update

Each student is expected to be in communication with their dissertation chair either electronically or in person throughout the semester. During these meetings, students should present drafts, report on progress to date, and be prepared to raise any questions or issues the student considers relevant. The student will be expected to provide an update on these discussions during the class as evidence of progress toward dissertation proposal completion.

Dissertation Proposal Presentation (Research Methods)- project based assessment

Students will give a formal 10-15 minute oral presentation of their research methods (with PowerPoint slides and relevant handouts) and receive feedback from the instructor and classmates to assist the student with refining their ideas. As the student nears completion of the dissertation proposal, students should consider and incorporate the suggestions and recommendations of the dissertation chair along with any relevant information from individual meetings with the instructor and interactions with the dissertation committee into their dissertation proposal.

Assignment Weighting

insignment weighting
Structured Abstract	10
Proposal Outline	10
Proposal Draft	25
Writing Reflections (2)	20
Committee Selection & Status Update	10
Dissertation Proposal Presentation	25
Total	100

Grading Policies

Students receive a final grade of S (Satisfactory), IP (In Progress), or F (Failure). A grade of S is given when the student completes course requirements and successfully defends the dissertation proposal to the student's dissertation committee. If this seminar concludes before the proposal is approved by the student's committee, the grade of IP is given and students need to maintain continued enrollment in EDUC 998 credits. EDUC 999 (Doctoral Dissertation) credits cannot be taken unless EDUC 998 is completed with a grade of S. The grade will be changed to S once the proposal is successfully defended. The grade of F may be given where there is a lack of participation or completion of course requirements, poor attendance, or absence of professional cooperation.

Professional Courtesy

Professionalism, collegiality, and courtesy are expected of all students. Students are expected not only to develop their own proposal, but also to provide positive and professional support for other students, in the spirit of a community of scholars. Students are expected to attend all scheduled meetings, provide thoughtful and constructive input for other students, and communicate regularly with student colleagues on the class Blackboard site.
