STUDENT TEACHER GUIDELINES

Student teaching is a time of great personal and professional growth. It is hard work and can be both exciting and stressful. Flexibility in adapting to differences in school cultures, teaching styles, differing philosophies, and student needs will help to reduce anxiety and increase growth. Some general expectations include:

- Earn the respect and confidence of your colleagues by demonstrating initiative, responsibility, and resourcefulness.
- Become a “reflective practitioner.”
- Learn from everyone around you, but especially from your students and from your mistakes.
- Ask for assistance, advice, feedback, coaching and criticism and act on it as appropriate.
- Plan regularly. Planning is one area where you should not emulate an experienced teacher.
- Demonstrate high standards of ethics and professionalism in your dealings with colleagues, students, and parents.
- Be responsible for initiation of Progress Reports, completion of the Log of Hours, and submitting all documentation to the university supervisor on/or before posted deadlines.
- Video record teaching sessions regularly, selecting one lesson at the beginning of each placement to analyze using the Video Observation Report.
- After teaching a lesson, reflect on the process using a journal that you can refer back.
- Prepare and present an e-Portfolio that showcases teaching exemplars from your internship experience.

More specific expectations that the student teacher should be familiar with include:

Child Abuse. The ST is required to comply with state regulations pertaining to child abuse and neglect recognition. Compliance is assessed through an online course provided by the Virginia Department of Social Services.

Dress Code. The student teacher is expected to meet professional standards of personal appearance in every respect. It is important that the first impression is a positive and lasting one. In addition, the basic idea of dressing professionally is to distinguish the student teacher from the students. Respectable attire is necessary. Collared shirts, dress slacks, and comfortable dress shoes are acceptable examples. Casual clothing such as T-shirts, ripped jeans, and revealing clothing is not permitted.

Ethics. Accepting a teaching position places the student teacher in a position of authority over students. This comes great responsibility. The student teacher is expected to embrace a high standard of ethical behavior. The faculty in the School of Music have adopted the National Education Association Code of Ethics as the standard. The student teacher is expected to read and follow abide by these guidelines: <http://www.nea.org/home/30442.htm>

Outside Activities. Commitments outside student teaching are not a valid excuse for failing to fulfill all duties and responsibilities of the internship. Performing in an ensemble, directing a church or community ensemble, private studio teaching, and working a part-time job are a few examples of outside activities that can interfere with student teaching. During the internship, student teaching responsibilities are the priority.

Principal's Authority. The principal has the authority to suspend and/or remove the student teacher from interning in their school at any time prior to, or during the internship. Such dismissal may come without prior notification to the student teacher, the university supervisor, the Director of Music Education, the administration in the School of Music, and/or the Clinical Practice Office.

Professional and Legal Responsibilities. Students are legally responsible for exercising “reasonable care” for students’ welfare and for complying with federal, state, and local policies and regulations. This can be accomplished through reading the school’s teacher handbook. The student teacher is expected to ask the mentor teacher for access to this information.

Social Media. The student teacher is cautioned against posting any comments or images to social media pertaining to the (a) school district (b) assigned school site, (c) students, (d) parents of students, (e) faculty, and (f) staff therein. Inflammatory, derogatory, and/or disparaging remarks are the antithesis of acceptable teacher dispositions and can be considered grounds for immediate removal from internship.

Substitute Teaching. A candidate may occasionally substitute for their MT during the internship, provided that several guidelines are strictly followed. These guidelines are:

- Students must already be fully hired and trained as a substitute in their internship location’s school division prior to any substitute teaching.
- Students may only substitute in the classroom of their mentor teacher with the building administrator’s advance knowledge and permission.
- Students may only substitute in the classroom of their mentor teacher when the mentor teacher is absent due to illness or family emergency. Students should accompany their mentor teachers to professional development activities when those are scheduled, and therefore should not substitute if/when the mentor teacher is out for such activities.
- Students may not count hours spent substitute teaching towards their direct/indirect hours requirements for licensure.
- Students may not leave their internship prior to its end date in order to serve as a long-term substitute teacher; completing the internship with fidelity and in a timely manner must always take precedence over substitute teaching.

Length of Internship. This commitment is a semester long period of full-time work experience. The Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) requires the student teacher to be in the classroom full time for a minimum of 300 clock hours, with at least half of that time (150 hours) spent providing direct instruction. Since the semester is divided into two placements, an average of 75 hours in direct teaching must be logged for each placement. Instructions for how to document hours is explained in the Log of Hours. Throughout the internship, the student teacher is expected to maintain the same schedule as their mentor teacher. This includes, but is not limited to (a) after school rehearsals, (b) area honors ensembles, (c) all performances, (d) faculty meetings, (e) booster club meetings, (f) conferences, (g) school testing, and (h) school fundraising activities. Essentially, if the mentor teacher is involved, the student teacher is also expected to be involved.

Calendar. Aside from the start/end dates of the internship placements, the student teacher will follow the calendar from the school district where the internship occurs as it pertains to holidays, teacher work days, and in-service events. In addition, the student teacher is required to attend Mason related activities such as the orientation session, internship seminars, and the e-Portfolio presentation.

Absences. Reliable attendance is crucial for success. During the student teacher orientation session, the university supervisor will share emergency contact information with the student teacher. In the event of an unexpected absence from student teaching, the student must notify the mentor teacher and their university supervisor prior to the absence. The student teacher is expected to make-up each absence without prompting from the university supervisor or mentor teacher. In the event of an unexpected absence from a school-related activity, the student teacher must notify their university supervisor prior to the absence. Failure to notify the mentor teacher and university supervisor in advance, in addition to an accumulation of absences, can result in a conference for the record and removal from student teaching.

Tardiness. Students must also notify the mentor and the university supervisor prior to being late to student teaching. In the event of an unexpected tardy from a school-related activity, the student teacher must notify their university supervisor prior to being late. Failure to notify the mentor teacher and the university supervisor in advance, in addition to repeated tardiness, can result in a conference for the record and removal from student teaching.

School of Music faculty who are assigned to supervise student teachers use a standards-based approach to grading.

Formative assessments consist of diagnostic feedback provided to the ST from the mentor teacher or university supervisor during each placement. They are designed to monitor teaching practice in terms of strengths, and to prescribe solutions for areas that need improvement. The information recorded in these assessments can be used by the mentor teacher and university supervisor to complete the Teacher Performance Assessment at the end of each placement.

Summative assessments are used by the mentor teacher and university supervisor at the end of each placement in order to evaluate teaching practice against the standards listed in the course syllabus. The scores derived from these assessments are used to calculate the final grade.

The Final Grade is determined by calculating the average score from all of the summative assessments. All required paperwork and documentation must be submitted to the US before a final grade is issued.

ACCOMMODATIONS. A student teacher with a documented disability (e.g. physical, learning, psychiatric, vision, hearing, etc.) who requires special accommodations (i.e. additional time to complete paperwork, absences for medical reasons) must contact their university supervisor and the Office of Disability Services (ODS) prior to beginning the internship. Then, if an accommodation request is granted, ODS will issue a letter for the university supervisor through the student describing the nature of the disability and the accommodation(s) recommended. Any accommodation(s) will commence from the date the letter from ODS is presented to the university supervisor. Requests for retroactive accommodations for the purpose of changing a final grade will not be considered.

CONFERENCE. Part of the mission of the music education faculty is to help students successfully complete their degree program. Occasionally, student teachers encounter problems that may require special assistance in order to successfully complete the internship. In such cases, the student teacher, the Director of (undergrad) Music Education, and the university supervisor (in collaboration with the mentor teacher) meet in conference to discuss possible solutions. The Academic Adviser and an administrator from the School of Music may also be involved in the conference.

Actions that can prompt a conference include:

- A request from the student teacher, or university supervisor
- An absence or tardy from student teaching without sufficient communication
- Failure to complete or submit paperwork in a timely manner
- Insufficient or lack of lesson planning
- Lack of participation in school-site events
- Violation of, or failure to conform, to the code of ethics
- Posting inappropriate content to social media that violates the policies herein
- Failure to meet the minimum requirement of 300 student teaching/150 direct teaching clock hours
- Removal from the internship by the principal

Possible outcomes that can result from a conference with the ST include:

- Arranging for an observation of an exceptional teacher who models the skills the intern lacks
- Modifying the schedule for independent teaching to begin more gradually and/or to add days if possible
- Providing special experiences during the period after independent teaching in order to address areas that need improvement
- Referral to Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) for personal or therapeutic support
- Referral to the Office of Student Financial Aid for advice on financial assistance
- Referral to Student Health Services for medical support
- Referral to the Office of Disability Services (ODS) for the purpose of requesting special accommodations needed to complete the internship

- Providing information about the possibility of repeating the internship in a subsequent semester
- Advising the student regarding an alternate degree and/or path to licensure
- CONFIDENTIALITY OF RECORDS. All reports, assessments, and evaluations of the student teacher may be shared between the mentor teacher, university supervisor, academic adviser, music education coordinator, and administrators in the School of Music until the cumulative folder is submitted to the Office of Clinical Practice. After that time, access will be in accordance with FERPA guidelines.
- RETENTION OF RECORDS. Contents of cumulative folders will be retained in the Office of Clinical Practice for one year after completion of student teaching. After that, the transcript and the Log of Hours will be the only records available. Therefore, students should keep copies of all documents pertaining to student teaching.

The Proposed Schedule can be found in the “Mentor Teacher Guidelines” section on page 7. However, these are steps you should take before the first day:

Email both of your mentor teachers to introduce yourself and schedule a time to meet/see the school in person, inquire about where to park, etc. You should include a “heads-up” that the Experiential Learning Agreement (ELA) will be coming to them from CEHD. You can also ask for copies of the music or the academic calendar/performance schedule.

Attend the orientation meeting with Dr. Beveridge and the other university supervisors.

Take a deep breath. You’ve done a lot already to get to this point, and this is why you did all that work. Try to have fun!

Conditions under which you could be removed from your student teaching placement:

George Mason University, the College of Visual and Performing Arts, and the Dewberry Family School of Music abide fully by the Virginia Standards for the Professional Practice of Teachers, as outlined by the Virginia Department of Education.

Standard Six addresses Teacher Professionalism, which George Mason, CVPA and the Dewberry School hold as particularly important for licensure candidates. Student teaching placement is a privilege, not a right, and although it is available to students at the culmination of their degree path based on successful completion of coursework, placement itself is assessed and can be rescinded for cause based on the criteria listed below. In some cases, a grade of No Credit or F may be accompanied by a recommendation that the student not be allowed to repeat student teaching. In such cases, the student will not be recommended for licensure.

- Attendance issues including chronic unexcused tardiness or absenteeism without documentation.
- Gross misconduct on school grounds or around/towards K-12 students in your care.
- Crimes committed while in the internship semester, not including minor traffic violations.
- Physical or mental health conditions that constitute a direct and severe negative impact on the K-12 students.
- Concerns expressed by the university supervisor or mentor teacher about any of the issues listed above or failure to progress after all parties have agreed on a plan of improvement.
- Any other severe event that constitutes a direct safety concern, at the discretion of the director of undergraduate music education.

MENTOR TEACHER HANDBOOK—Dewberry School of Music, George Mason University

Classroom music teachers are essential to the process of helping interns to develop into successful professionals. In order to serve as an MT, the following eligibility requirements must be met:

- A minimum of 5-years of successful full-time teaching
- Receptive in hosting music education students for field experience
- Recognized by colleagues as an outstanding educator in the endorsement area
- Passionate and committed to investing time in excess of contractual hours in helping students excel in music proficiency
- Willingness to recognize the validity of new methodologies in teaching music

Student teacher substitute policy:

George Mason University prohibits student teachers to teach any student or class in absence of the mentor teacher or a properly credentialed substitute teacher. In the event the mentor teacher will be absent, the student teacher may be hired as a substitute if they are already cleared and credentialed as a substitute by the school district. The decision to then hire the student teacher rests with the mentor teacher and school-site principal. If the student teacher is not officially hired but expected to teach, the school-site principal is responsible for hiring a substitute that accepts liability for all students and classes including those which the intern is assigned to work.

Student teacher requirements

Student teaching is widely regarded as the single most important component of teacher education. The effectiveness of the experience depends upon the degree to which all members of the team fulfill their responsibilities and establish good working relationships. Frequent and open communication is essential. Immediate communication from the mentor teacher to the university supervisor regarding any/all concerns with the student teacher is paramount.

The Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) requires the student teacher to be in the classroom full time for a minimum of 300 clock hours. Half of that time (150 hours) is to be spent teaching. Since the semester is divided into two placements, a minimum of 75 hours in direct teaching must be logged for each placement.

Direct Teaching is defined as follows:

- Co-Teaching: shared responsibility for planning, instruction, assessment, and supervision. Also referred to as team teaching.
- Independent Teaching: the student teacher assumes full responsibility for planning and implementing instruction, assessing student achievement, and evaluating the lesson in order to improve learning.

The mentor teacher is responsible for creating and implementing a schedule that provides sufficient teaching opportunities for the student teacher to earn the minimum number of hours in direct teaching. Questions or concerns pertaining to scheduling sufficient teaching hours should be addressed to the university supervisor. The mentor teacher will release the student teacher for required seminar meetings once every two weeks in the evening, unless it is a pre-arranged absence approved by the student teacher coordinator.

The mentor teacher is expected to serve as role model, instructor, and coach for the student teacher. Since, the mentor teacher's primary responsibility is for their student's welfare and learning, the additional responsibility of supervising a student requires careful planning and good judgment about the student teacher's readiness to assume teaching duties. A general guide to navigating through the processes is described as follows:

- Familiarize the student teacher with state and local policies by providing a link to (or hardcopy of) your school's teacher handbook as a part of their orientation.
- Provide the student teacher with a copy of the school music handbook, student expectations, and/or syllabus along with a calendar of events at the beginning of the placement.
- Treat the student teacher as a colleague in order to increase acceptance from students.
- Co-plan and co-teach during the first month of working together.
- Converse regularly, especially in regards to instructional decisions.
- Build confidence by having the student teacher gradually assume responsibility for instruction.
- Oversee planning and monitor the progress of the student teacher's approach to learning.
- Gradually withdraw from your classroom, shifting authority and responsibility to the student teacher.
- When giving feedback, encourage reflection and self-analysis.
- Be open and honest about areas needing improvement by prescribing solutions to strengthen the areas(s) of weakness.
- Discuss any concerns or problems with the university supervisor as soon as they arise.
- Introduce the student teacher to the appropriate resources needed to accomplish a full range of professional duties.
- By word and by action, communicate your love of teaching and commitment to the profession.
- Monitor the student teacher as they complete the Log of Hours.
- Complete Progress Reports for the student teacher and university supervisor by the appropriate deadlines.
- Give advice and support as the student teacher develops their e-Portfolio.
- If warranted, provide the student teacher with a recommendation for employment
- Complete a Teacher Performance Assessment and confer with the university supervisor as needed

University Supervisor Role

The University Supervisor (US) serves as a liaison between the school site and the university, providing support and guidance to both ST and MT. The US performs a critical role in facilitating communication and in providing feedback, assistance, and evaluation for the ST. Some general expectations include:

- Be accessible to the ST and MT through regular visitations, phone, and email.
- Encourage open communication within the team and a collaborative approach to supporting the ST.
- Provide guidance on policies and procedures for student teaching and check to ensure that they are followed.
- Confer with the Director of Music Education as soon as any problems arise.
- Conduct at least four formal observations (two for each placement) using the Observation Report, followed by a conference and written report for each observation.
- Ideally, observations should be from different grade levels and a variety of music classes where practical.
- Promote reflective practice by reviewing the ST's observation journal and providing feedback.
- Keep the Director of Music Education informed of any problems with or changes that might negatively affect the progress of the ST.
- Facilitate record keeping and documentation needed for the ST to obtain licensure.
- Begin documenting the progress of the ST by completing the Teacher Performance Assessment (TPA) early in each placement, amending as needed.
- Coordinate evaluation and grading of the ST's performance, including the development and presentation of the e-Portfolio.
- Provide the candidate with a recommendation for employment, if requested.
- Complete evaluations of the MT upon conclusion of each placement. The Office of Clinical Practice will send links to the online surveys.

e-Portfolio Guidelines

The e-Portfolio is a collection of materials and reflections, which provide a record of the ST's experiences for documenting growth and can also be used as a tool when searching for employment. The e-Portfolio synthesizes learning from the ST's coursework and school-based experiences by providing exemplars gathered throughout the course of the internship.

The e-Portfolio is a requirement for the successful completion of student teaching but is only one of several factors considered in determining the final grade. A presentation and review of the portfolio will take place at the conclusion of the semester. The presentation and assessment of the portfolio is considered an important part of the overall evaluation of the internship.

The following guidelines will be helpful to student teachers preparing the portfolio:

- The e-Portfolio is an evolving document and should be in a continual state of development.
- The e-Portfolio should be comprised of pieces that the student teacher has selected because they are significant examples of growth and teaching excellence. The US and MT should guide the entries.
- The appearance of the e-Portfolio should not overshadow its contents; however, potential employers will notice that an organized appearance demonstrates careful thought and preparation.

e-Portfolio Format

The e-Portfolio will be created in an electronic format using a web-based design with interactive links. The ST can choose the platform for their e-Portfolio so long as the website is not published (or made available to the public) until the assessed and approved by the US using the e-Portfolio Assessment. Remember, once your website is published, it is available for all to view. Publishing a website before it has been approved may create unintended consequences if the materials chosen for the site do not portray the ST as a professional. Nevertheless, a few examples of free website platforms that can be used to create the e-Portfolio include:

<http://www.weebly.com/>

<http://www.wix.com/>

<https://wordpress.org/>

One final thought to consider, many people access the internet through their smartphones. Check to see if the platform you choose displays well on mobile devices prior to and during developing your content.

e-Portfolio Content

Once you have decided upon your platform, you may begin uploading content onto your pages. If you use the Google Sites template, the pages have been arranged for you. If you choose to go with another platform, you will need to create your own pages using the following categories:

Home Page

- Table of Contents or Tabs linked to each section
- Head shot and/or teaching photos
- Link to a pdf copy of the Resume that can be downloaded/printed

Philosophy of Teaching

- Short, 1 or 2 paragraphs
- Think broadly about teaching music avoiding language that only covers one area (e.g., band, choir, or orchestra).

Planning and Instruction

- Reflection statement pertaining to how the ST tied knowledge obtained from 400-level methods coursework into creating lesson plans selected for inclusion on this page.
- Sample Lesson Plans, 1 for each of the following:
 - ELEMENTARY FOCUS
 - pdf of your very best lesson plan that focuses on teaching fundamentals through a song
 - Objectives are singular and measurable
 - Evidence of adaptations or accommodation for various learning styles, interests, and needs of students taught
 - Age-appropriate activities (i.e. movement, tactile learning, etc.)
 - Procedures are sequential (A/O to SA)
 - Assessment strategy (sample rubric, checklist, rating scale, etc.) is appropriate to the activity and age-level
 - SECONDARY FOCUS
 - pdf of your very best lesson plan that focuses on teaching musicianship to the group or ensemble

Directions: Select a video 10-20 minutes in length to observe and reflect. Fill out the required information below, include a link to the video. Link should be to your secure university account OneDrive not YouTube or GoogleDrive due to security purposes and minor student privacy laws. Save document as a .doc, .docx, or .pdf and submit to your university supervisor on the due date. Two forms are required in a single semester, one report for each placement.

Part 1: Rubric Grade of Instructional Delivery (Check one for each) Total score ____/12

	Excellent (4)	Routine (3)	Developing (1-2)	Unsatisfactory (0-1)
Engagement	All groups of students are engaged for the entire lesson with no major pauses or disruptions.	All groups or a majority of students are engaged for a majority of the lesson, no major pauses or disruptions.	Not all student groups are engaged for the majority of the lesson. Disruptions may cause issues with pacing and flow of delivery.	Students are not actively engaged in learning Disruptions create major barriers to instructional delivery
Strategy	A variety of appropriate instructional strategies are used to meet the objective.	At least two instructional strategies are used to meet the objective.	Only one instructional strategy is used to meet the objective.	Instructional strategy is not clear, or inappropriate for meeting the objective.
Pacing	Flow and pacing of lesson are weighted heavily toward student doing rather than teacher talking . Explanations are short, concise, and always relevant to student objectives	Flow and pacing of the lesson are weighted toward student doing rather than teacher talking , but explanations are concise and relevant	Flow and pacing are unstable, teacher explaining more than is needed: half time or less student doing . Teacher may explain things not relevant to student objectives	Flow and pacing of lesson are continuously disrupted due to over explaining, student behavior, or poor understanding due to unclear directions/modeling.

Reflection:

1. What parts of this lesson went well? What factors contributed to that success?

2. What parts of this lesson did not go well? What could you adjust and redo if you had the opportunity?
